The committee on rules gives this hearing on the question of why the bill should be admitted under the head of early legislation. If, after hearing, proponents and opponents, the committee votes to admit it, the measure, in the ordinary course of events, will be sent and referred to the committee on municipal finance, which body will conduct a second hearing on the merits of the proposition. It, on the other hand, the rules committee votes not to admit it, the bill dies.

Harding Declares Participation of U.S. in World Court in Harmony With Party Platform Pledges and American Aspirations

Emphatically Denies Action Would Mean Entry Into League of Nations "By the Side Door, the Back Door or the Cellar Door"—Recalls Pre-election Promises and Says if Parties and Candidates Do Not Mean What They Say Then Our Form of Government is Based on Fraud and Cannot Hope to Endure

NEW YORK, April 24.—Participation by the United States in the world court as proposed by the administration, President Harding today declared at the annual luncheon of members of the Associated Press, would be "in harmony with party platform pledges, candidatorial promises and American aspirations" and would not be an entry into the League of Nations "by the side door, the back door, or the cellar door."

"Excessive friends" of the league, the president declared, have been misled by an unwarranted assumption that the proposal is a move toward membership in the league while, he added, the irreconcilable opponents of the league have also been misled by the assumption that the proposal is a move toward membership in the league.

The fear of entanglements the president disavowed with the blunt declaration that if the senate were to consent to any, his administration would not complete ratification of such a proposal and would thereby prevent it from becoming effective.

Reiterating his conviction that the United States could participate in the world court without assuming the risks which its opponents point out, President Harding reviewed the republican party platform since 1912, all of which he pointed out, spoke for a world court of arbitral justice, and added:

Must Keep the Faith

"I believe in keeping the faith. If political parties do not mean what they say, and candidates do not mean what they say, then our form of government is based on fraud and cannot hope to endure."

But the president left no doubt that

United States entering the League of Nations. It doesn't propose to enter now by the side door, the back door, or the cellar door. I have no unseemly comment to offer on the league. If it is serving the Old World helpfully, more power to it. But it is not for us. The senate has so declared. Nothing could be more decisively stamped with finality."

Not Menace to Party Unity

Mr. Harding made it plain that he did not consider the world court question paramount to all other national problems and added that neither did he hold it a menace to party unity, evidently having in mind the warning issued by some republican leaders within the last few weeks.

"It ought not to be classed as party question," he continued, "but if any party repeatedly advocating a world court, is to be rebuffed by the suggestion of an effort to perform in accordance with its pledges, it needs a new appraisal of its assets."

Political "Bugbear"

Sensing one of the principal arguments to be used by opponents of the administration proposal, the claim that the United States would be placed at a disadvantage in the election of judges to the court through the disparity in the national voting power in the league assembly, the president said he frankly recognized this as a "political bugbear" but added that inasmuch as no nation could have more than one judge, it was less of an

Application of Ward's Counsel Denied

ALBANY, N. Y., April 24.—Supreme Court Justice Staley today denied the application of counsel for Walter S. Ward for an injunction restraining the Western Union and the Postal Telegraph companies from turning over to Attorney General Carl Sherman, copies of cablegrams and telegrams exchanged between members of the Ward family just prior to the killing of Clarence Peters of Haverhill, Mass. The messages were sought by the attorney general in connection with his investigation of the killing of Peters by Ward.

LYNN SHOE STRIKE ENDS

LYNN, April 24.—Work in 48 factories affiliated with the Lynn Shoe Manufacturers' association was resumed today, five thousand strikers, members of the Amalgamated Shoe Workers of America, and an equal number, thrown out of employment when the edgemakers, had workers, Goodyear operators, of the all of blue and the women stitchers walked out last week, returning under the recognized banner of the Amalgamated Shoe Workers Union, Amalgamated settlement of the strike which was caused primarily by the inability of the manufacturers to recognize the Amalgamated because of existing contracts with the United Shoe Workers of America, and the alleged cutting of prices by the latter organization after several of its heads had seceded and gone over to the Amalgamated, was reached at 3.15 p. m., today, after conferences last night and last night, between officials and delegates of the Amalgamated Union and the Shoe Manufacturers' association and Judge Ralph W. Reeve of the Southern Essex district who acted as mediator.

AMERICA PLANS BIG AIR EXPANSION PROGRAM

BY HARRY B. HUNT
N.E.A. Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, April 23.—(Gigantic military dirigibles have caused America's most appalling air disasters—

But undaunted, America plans to lead the world in development of this type of aircraft with a program so ambitious that it may revolutionize world travel—a program that includes even a flight to the north pole.

The ZR-1, monster dirigible, now nearing completion by the navy, was planned as a factor in national defense. Already, though, the navy department's bureau of aeronautics has arranged for it a peace-time career of world-wide benefit.

"Have not great dirigibles proven themselves failures for all practical uses? They either break in two, like the ZR-2, or blow up like the Roma. Why spend additional millions in building experimental craft of a type whose value is chiefly theoretical and which has produced so high a record of disaster?"

I put questions like these to Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of the navy's bureau of aeronautics. "After the loss of the ZR-2," Moffett replied, "there was a great deal of discussion as to whether or not we should carry on in developing large lighter-than-air ships."

"In reaching our decision to go ahead, we were guided by considerations other than those of a strictly naval nature. If by experimentation and study, by elimination of structural defects and weaknesses, by practice and perseverance, we could develop a new method of transportation, that alone would be worth every cent spent."

Will Use Helium
The ZR-1, unlike the ZR-2 and the Roma, will be flown with helium gas, not hydrogen. That will eliminate the hazard of explosions. We have on hand now more than enough helium to fill her and our production is constantly increasing.

"We are developing portable mooring masts of a kind that may be set up readily at points between which flights are to be tried out. In addition to these, permanent mooring masts will be erected at a number of points, both on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts and inland."

The ZR-1, it is expected, will be completed and ready for tests by late July or early August.

First flights will be made in the neighborhood of Lakehurst, N. J., to test out structural correctness, responsiveness to control, power and speed.

Following any necessary changes, the ZR-1 will begin voyaging out for longer trips. New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington will be among the first cities visited.

With Tour U. S.
After these will come the real test of her ability. Chicago, St. Louis, Fort Worth, San Diego are the probable stop-overs on the first attempted transcontinental flight.

Then up the Pacific coast over Los Angeles to San Francisco to Portland, to Seattle and Bremerton, Wash.

Whether a return flight will be attempted over the northern route, possibly via Helena or Butte, Mont., St. Paul and Minneapolis, Milwaukee, Cleveland and Buffalo will be determined largely by experience gained on the eastward trip.

German Ship, Too
Before these transcontinental flights by the ZR-1 are concluded, however, the navy expects to receive from Germany the ZR-3, being built by the Zeppelin Co. This is paid for by the German government to replace the dirigible assigned to the United States following the armistice which was destroyed.

This new dirigible, of a somewhat different type, but of approximately the same size and capacity, will be flown to this country by a German crew, the agreement calling for delivery on this side.

With these two dirigibles, both using helium, ready to explore and chart likely commercial air routes, aeronautics authorities predict a revival of interest and confidence in the lighter-than-air ships.

They see approaching the era of huge air fleets operating successfully over routes where surface transportation is slow or difficult.

HOME BEAUTIFUL SHOW
AT THE AUDITORIUM

Plans for the Home Beautiful Exposition, which will be conducted at the Memorial Auditorium May 8, were practically completed at a meeting of the Lowell Contractors' association held yesterday afternoon in the quarters of the organization in Central street. Contractors representing practically every branch of business in the building line were present and all are doing their utmost to make the event a success in every sense of the word.

The various committees in charge of the exposition submitted their reports. The proposition was outlined at length and it was stated that it is the intention of the association to equip the Auditorium stage with an up-to-date bungalow. There will also be booths around the spacious hall, where the various works of the contractors will be on exhibit.

The bungalow will be complete in every way. The plumbing and lighting will be real, not phony and to make a long story short, the bungalow will be ready for occupancy. The third floor of the main hall will be filled with booths, which will be taken by the various contractors. The entire effect of the place will be that of an arcade with white pillars supporting the booths, all of which will be of uniform construction. Lattice work will connect the booths by arches in which artificial flowers will be entwined so as to give the structure a most beautiful effect.

DEATHS

Mr. Wright was a veteran of the Civil war. Funeral services will be held at Charlton and the body will be buried in the family lot in the Edison cemetery.

The two dressing rooms off the stage will be taken up by the Lowell Electric Light Corp. and the Lowell Gas Light Co. for exhibits of their own. Final plans for the event will be made at a meeting of the Lowell Contractors' association to be held in the near future, the date to be announced later.

Pres. Harding Makes Plea for World Court

which the nations concerned would not agree. So, very informally and very discreetly the situation was felt out over a considerable period of time, and when satisfied that there was an appropriate course of action without connection with the league, provided the senate consented, I proposed adherence to the court protocol and asked the senate's consent.

"The documents speak for themselves. It was pointed out that no rights under the league and no obligations of the league would be incurred, but to make certain that we would not be involved, the letter of the secretary of state suggested suitable reservations to afford ample guarantee.

Complete Recital

"This is the complete recital. It is in harmony with platform pledges and candidatorial promises and I believe with American aspirations. The senate's decision was hardly to be expected amid the enormous pressure of business incident to the closing weeks of the short session. But I felt that the senate, the country and the friendly nations whose counsel we had sought, were entitled to know that our gestures abroad were sincere, and our own people should know there are no secrets about our purposes at home, once they are matured.

"Excessive friends of the league have been misled by their unwarranted assumption that it is a move toward league membership. Let them disabuse their minds, because there is no such thought among us who must make our commitments abroad. And the situation is likewise misapprehended by those who shudder excessively when the league is mentioned and who assume entanglement is unavoidable. Any entanglement would first require assent of the senate which is scarcely to be apprehended, and if by any chance the senate approved of any entanglement, the present administration would not complete the ratification. If in spite of these statements, uttered with full deliberation, there are excessive and unfounded hopes on the one hand, or utterly unjustifiable apprehensions on the other, I know of no word fittingly to apply.

Each Nation to Have One Judge

"Frankly, there is one political bugbear. When we discussed the League of Nations and its rule of force, with its super-powers through a political council and assembly, I myself contented as a senator for equal voting power on the part of the United States with any nation in the world. With her doubtful members of the league assembly, the British empire will have six votes in the branch of the court electorate, but it has only one in the electorate of the council. In view of the fact that no nation can have more than one judge, it is a less formidable objection than when applied to the league as a super-power, dealing with problems likely to abridge a member's national rights. I appraise the objection as one who voted against this disparity of power in the league assembly, but in an appraisal now I do not hesitate to say that if other great powers can accept without fear the young strength of the British dominions when they are without ties of race to minimize international rivalries and suspicions, we ought, in view of the natural ties of English-speaking kinship, feel ourselves free from danger.

Great Step in Right Direction

"The perfected court must be a matter of development. I earnestly commend it because it is a great step in the right direction toward the peaceful settlement of justiciable questions toward the elimination of frictions which lead to war, and a surer agency of international justice through the application of law than can be hoped for in arbitration which is influenced by the prejudices of men and the expediency of politics.

"We can do vastly more to perfect it in the capacity of an adherent than in an aloofness in which we arrogate to ourselves the right to say to the world we dictate but never comply. I would yield none of our rights, none of our nationality, but would gladly give our influence and co-operation to move forward and upward toward world peace and that regulation of justice which is infinitely more secure in the rule of national honor than in national or international force.

"I have indulged the dream, nay, a justified hope, that out of the encouragement and sustained court might come the fulfillment of largest aspirations. In the very fact of its utility and a spirit of confidence among nations might come that voluntary conference of nations out of which could be expected a clarified and codified international law to further assure peace under the law, and bring nations that understanding which is ever the first and best guarantee of peace.

Not Menace to Unity of Party

"I would not have it thought that I hold this question paramount to all others confronting our government. I do not hold it a menace to the unity of any political party. It is not to be classed as a party question, but if any party repeatedly advocating a world court is to be rendered by the suggestion of an effort to perform in accordance with its pledges, it needs a new appraisal of its assets.

"Our problems at home invariably call for first consideration. Our own house must be kept in order; our own good fortune must be assured before we can be large contributors to world progress or measurably helpful to humanity. I have little patience with the contention of those who believe large commercial advantages will attend our larger assumption of world responsibility. Nations are not engaged in bartering their trade advantages for larger followings. We do not do it for ourselves, and we need not ask what we do not give. Commerce is the very life blood of every people's existence and a nation's commercial opportunities are valued little less than the security of its citizenship.

No Selfish Design

"A restored Europe, with less consumption in conflict and more production and consumption in hopeful peace and banded hate, would add to the volume of world commerce. We would gladly archimedes such a restoration. Our influence and helpfulness are ready when they will avail, but we cannot intrude where we ourselves would resist intrusion.

"Our position commercially is gaining in strength, because we are free from political entanglements and can be charged with no selfish design.

"In the making of new pacts and the making of old, we ask no more and accept no less than the equal opportunity we are ever ready to grant others, and the position is unassailable. The nation which grants justice may confidently ask it, and the world—social, political or commercial—which would promote justice through association or judgment of its court, must practice justice in its daily transactions.

WOMAN SICK TWO YEARS

Caused by Troubles Women Often Have—Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Medina, New York.—"I had a great deal of trouble such as women often have, and this affected my nerves. For over two years I suffered this way, then I read in the Buffalo Times about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and have taken it with very good results. I am very much better and feel justified in praising the Vegetable Compound to my friends and neighbors who suffer from anything of the kind."—Mrs. Wm. H. ARKINS, 311 Erie Road, Medina, N. Y.

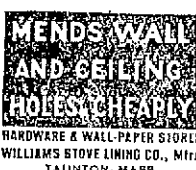

Feels Like Girl Sixteen
Rochester, N. Y.—"After my twin girls were born I was all run-down. My neighbors thought I was going to die. I saw your advertisement in the paper and bought Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The first bottle helped me and I kept on taking it. I only weighed ninety pounds when I began taking it, and I have gained in weight and feel like a girl of sixteen. I never can say enough for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. NELLIE DOREY, 16 Skuse Park, Rochester, N. Y.

An entirely new kind of soap

For all the regular family wash

Just soaking in it loosens all the dirt

Use enough Rinso to get the big lasting suds that loosen all the dirt

With this new kind of soap, soaking takes the place of rubbing. There is no drudgery. No wear and tear on the clothes. Rinso is so rich in cleansing power, so safe and gentle, that just soaking in its thick lasting suds loosens all the dirt. When you rinse out your clothes the dirt floats right off. Only the very dirtiest places will need a light rubbing with a little dry Rinso. These obstinate spots will then disappear at once.

Whichever way you wash—Rinso makes it easier

You do not have to change any of your usual steps—just use Rinso where you used to use bar soap. You will find it makes every washday method easier for you. For soaking, for boiling, for washing machines Rinso is ideal. You need no other soap or any soap powder.

Rinso is made by the makers of Lux, the largest soapmakers in the world. Just as Lux has made all fine laundering safe and easy, so Rinso has taken all the harmful rubbing and drudgery out of the family wash.

Get Rinso today at any grocery or department store. It comes in two sizes, the regular size and the big new package. Lever Bros. Co., 164 Broadway, Cambridge, Mass.

SUPERVISORS ELECTED ON THE LIQUOR QUESTION

Playground Supervisors, and Substitutes Elected by Park Commissioners

The board of park commissioners last night elected 42 playground supervisors for this summer and in addition named 22 substitutes. Of this number 20 were re-appointed from last year, while 22 new names were taken from an eligible list submitted by the civil service commission as the result of a competitive examination.

Those newly chosen, with their civil service standing, are as follows:

Pet. McMahon, Helen	81.25
McGulre, Mary R.	80.25
Rocke, Grace V.	80.00
Sheldon, Ruth C.	78.25
Carmichael, Elizabeth P.	78.00
Fulton, Elizabeth C.	77.75
McAdams, Dorothy R.	77.50
Maher, Agnes W.	77.50
Coughlin, Helen M.	77.50
McEvoy, Ellen R.	77.25
Garvey, Marion M.	76.75
Joyes, Agnes J.	76.50
Reynolds, Mary M.	76.50
Kelleher, Mary A.	76.25
Whelton, Ruth M.	76.25
Alexander, Doris J.	76.25
Blossington, Helen M.	76.00
Goley, Mary E.	76.00
(Substitutes)
McDonald, Jessie A.	75.00
Reynolds, Marie	74.50
Sargent, Virginia B.	74.00
(MALE)
McArthur, Vincent M.	83.50
Conway, James P.	83.50
Roane, James P.	83.50
McLellan, Henry T.	83.75
(Substitutes)
Markham, Walter D.	80.50
Auliffe, Patrick	78.50

Those who served last year, who had applied for service this year and who were reappointed, are:

Pertman, Anna; 196 Hale street.
Brown, Rose; 114 Howard street.
Blain, Ruby; 159 Pawtucket street.
Moran, Lillian; 17 Burlington ave.
Kelley, Mary; 11 Cedar street.
Munn, Helen; 162 Third street.
Sullivan, Bessie; 85 Pleasant street.
Brown, Barbara; 11 Robbins street.
Coffey, Estelle; 153 Wilder street.
Desmond, Lucy; 125 Stockpole street.
Stocks, Esther; 141 Parkview ave.
Dwyer, Mary; 226 West Sixth street.
Reine, Ann; 111 229 Lincoln street.
Dudley, Agnes; 126 Colum street.
Leach, Vera; 103 Durant street.
Gallagher, Martha; 131 Cumberland road.
Martin, Edward; 125 NeSmith street.
Lynch, Arthur; 87 Port Hill avenue.
McAdams, Brendan V.; 321 High street.
Markham, Edwin; 75 Chauncey street.
Condon, Edward; 96 Midland street.
Elliot school baths—Charles McCabe, 70 Oak street.

Because of increased playground activities this summer, six more regular instructors will be employed than last year, when the number was 36.

The commission took definite action on the seizure of two tracts of land in Pawtucketville for park and playground purposes when orders to take by right of eminent domain were signed for the Ayer land off Mammoth road and land along the river bank just below Pawtucket bridge, occupied at present by buildings of the old jam factory, so-called. Preparatory action already had been taken, but the actual orders of seizure were not signed until last night. The Ayer land will be used as a play area, while the tract at the river bank will be developed as a part of the river-bank parkway.

At the request of Rev. William F. Mahan, O.M.I., chaplain of Lowell post, American Legion, the board voted to grant the use of the South common on Memorial day for a military mass.

The commission considered the request of Councilor Arthur B. Chadwick for the seizure of a rectangular plot of land at the junction of Carlele and Graham streets, but after some discussion thought the tract might better be taken by the street department and made into a permanent part of the roadway at that point.

The mother of John T. O'Donnell, World war hero, for whom the old Fair Grounds land was named, appeared before the board relative to the condition of the land and urged steps to place it in a more presentable condition. Considerable promiscuous dumping has been going on there and the result has not been good. As it is planned to dedicate this tract on Memorial day, the commission voted to take immediate action on Mrs. O'Donnell's suggestion.

On the recommendation of Supt. John W. Kanan, the board voted to have permanent bleachers erected on the Summer street slope of the South common.

BOUTS LAST NIGHT

Lowell Representatives Vote Against the State Liquor Enforcement Act

(Special to The Sun)
STATE HOUSE, Boston, Apr. 24.—Although the house of representatives yesterday passed the state liquor enforcement act, Lowell's representatives still held their ground and voted against the measure. The bill was passed to be engrossed on a roll-call 121 to 54. Reps. Henry Achin, Jr., Owen E. Brennan, Thomas J. Corbett, Victor E. Jewett, Fred O. Lewis and Charles H. Shawey, all voted against passing the bill.

It now goes to the senate. It is any man's guess as to what will happen to it in the upper body. It will probably be a close fight although present indications favor the bill going through. The bill placing the prohibition question on the ballot at the next state election, introduced by Rep. Elijah Adlow of Boston has been referred to the attorney general by the house committee on bills in third reading. The bill still held their ground and voted against

Hughes Names U. S. Negotiators

WASHINGTON, April 24.—Secretary Hughes announced today that the American commissioners to negotiate for a closer understanding with representatives of the Oregon government in Mexico City, would be Charles B. Warren, of Detroit, former ambassador to Japan, and John Barton Payne, former secretary of the interior, and now chairman of the Red Cross.

He protested against any subterfuge to hold one bill up while this one was acted upon. He defended his support of the enforcement act last week and declared that he felt obliged to favor the bill in order to support the enforcement of the constitution. HOTT.

BREATHLESS AFTER CLIMBING STAIRS

A Condition That Generally Points to Anemia or Thin Blood

To be short of breath after slight exertion is such a common symptom of an anemic or bloodless condition that doctors have come to call "the staircase test" one of the regular methods of diagnosing thin blood. When this shortness of breath is accompanied by pallor of the cheeks and lips it is advisable to build up your blood. This was the experience of Mrs. Albert DeMors, of No. 26 Payson avenue, Dorchester, Mass. She says:

"For the benefit of others who may be saved a great deal of suffering, I would like to tell how I regained my health. I was very thin and did not have a bit of color. I was so weak that a little effort caused shortness of breath and when I climbed up stairs I was left practically exhausted. My nerves were so unstrung that I had crying spells and could not control myself. My sleep was not refreshing. I had no appetite and suffered from severe pains across my back. I also had headaches a great deal and became very melancholy.

"I read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and remembering that I had heard from friends how good they were I got a box and in a short time began to feel a little better. Soon the headaches disappeared and as I continued taking the pills the color returned to my cheeks and lips. I have a good appetite now and feel stronger and better in every way, thanks to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

"These pills are a body-building tonic. They increase the power of the blood to carry new life and energy to every part of the system. If there is no organic trouble this is almost sure to result in benefit that the patient quickly notices in increased appetite, better digestion, sound, refreshing sleep and general good health."

Get a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills today from the nearest drug store if you are not feeling as well as you should and see what the gentle treatment will do for you. Write to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for free booklet, "Building Up the Blood"—Adv.

TO ATTEND Y. M. C. A. WORLD CONFERENCE

Boys' work secretary, Thomas B. Williams, of the Lowell Y.M.C.A. will represent this city at the second World's conference of Y.M.C.A. workers with boys, which will be held at Fortschheim See, Austria, May 30 to June 10. Nine hundred representatives from 50 countries are expected at this conference, to discuss the place of boyhood in the nations of the world and the relation of the association thereto.

Business and professional men who have associated themselves with the activities of the Y. will attend the meeting of delegates. Lewis A. Cross, a manufacturer of Boston, Dr. Max J. Exner, director of the department of educational measures of the American Social Hygiene association, Cameron Hook, personnel director of the New York stock exchange, and many others of note will be present.

Dr. John H. Mott, international secretary of the Y.M.C.A., says that the most remarkable generation of boys that this work has ever known is the one coming forward. Great issues await these boys and great responsibility will come to this particular generation. The work formulating plans for the guidance of this generation of boys in the right path, will be the main work of the conference.

Meet Radio Robert—and this is the truth—He knows all about what goes on in Duluth. In far off Missouri no big news can break. But it always will find this smart fellow Robert. For he recently purchased a radio set and there isn't a station that Robert can't get.

He loves bedtime stories of rabbits and sheep. When insomnia threatens they put him to sleep. He likes to hear health talks he gets good advice. And he isn't required to pay a stiff price.

If he's tired and feels he's in need of a thrill. The police reports give him far more than his fill.

"I once heard from Cuba," said Robert to me. But I rather not hear from those birds we set free. They are singing very sweetly and play lovely tunes. About waving palm-trees and tropical moon. I can stand all that nonsense, but it isn't good over. To recall that the Cubans can always have beer!

"In the old days we fought or we went to a show. Sometimes to a dance to the Town Hall we'd go. We'd take a short spin through the country and back. Or sit into a game and lose most of our back."

Now we stay in the kitchen and save our spare tin. And enjoy grand appear from Minn'-apolis, Minn.

Thousands Bless Dr. Leonard's Common Sense Remedy

If you think that the surgeon's knife is the only method of escape from the misery of piles, it's because you haven't heard of the new treatment known as Dr. Leonard's HEM-BOND.

The doctor's treatment is internal. By experimenting for years he discovered the exact cause of piles and then went further and compounded a remedy that would remove the cause.

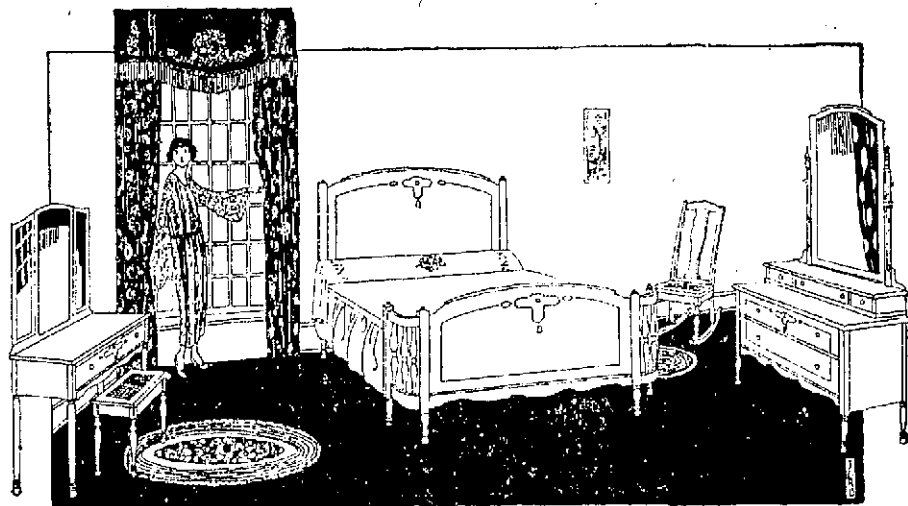

Dr. Leonard wants every sufferer to benefit by his discovery and so that there will be no delay in getting the cure, he has authorized to sell HEM-BOND with guarantee that it will be as stated or money back.

On this honorable basis every sufferer should get a package of Dr. Leonard's HEM-BOND today.

Opening of Exhibit In Liberty Hall

Representative of the state board of education for the blind, was in general charge of the affair, and in addition to the local committee, had several assistants from the departments to aid her.

The hall was prettily decorated with streamers hung from the balcony and from the center of the hall to the balconies, and the stage was banked with potted greenery and other decorations. The exhibition and sales tables were arranged around the walls of the hall and each was piled high with the goods which were on sale. In the center of the door are located the spinning wheels, looms, work benches and other tools which are to be used by the blind in demonstrating their method of manufacture of the various articles. One feature of the sale is the fact that every piece of goods on sale is handmade, or made on machines, operated by hand.

Rug Exhibit Feature

Two kinds of rugs are on exhibition. The first is a rug made by a blind gentleman by that name in his home in Boston, and Cambridge rugs, made in the workshop of the blind in Cambridge. The patterns in these rugs run from those taking after the style of the Turkish to the Wilton rug pattern. Each one is perfect, the colors are drawn in at exactly the right place and each one is finished in a beautiful manner. Knitted and crocheted articles of every kind and color, also on exhibition. One small table is given over to the sale of books by Clarence Hawkey, a blind author. One of these is of exceptional interest as it is nothing more or less than an autobiography of the author. "Following the Dark Trail," is the name of this book and in it the author tells of the experiences of being blind and how it affects his work. Another table is given over to the sale of art fabrics. This is an exhibition of work that is marvellous in its beauty and finish. The various articles were all woven by the blind and the embroidery, of the finest of the material, was all done by women and girls who could not see the pattern they were to follow. The household table is another exhibition of what can be done by the blind after they receive proper education, and the exhibition of maps, brooms, baskets, and other miscellaneous articles complete the material on show and sale.

Tea Room in Hall

A tea room has been arranged in the front of the hall at the stage and at this table the tired shopper may rest and enjoy a light lunch and tea served by dainty misses from the State Normal School.

It is expected and hoped that Mr. Robert L. Branch, director of the board of education for the blind, will be present at the exhibition either today or tomorrow, but up to the present time the committee in charge has not had definite word from him as to whether he will be present or not.

Admission to the hall is free to all and it is hoped that the hall will be crowded this evening and from 10 a. m. to 11 p. m. tomorrow, the hours of the show. The educational value of the exhibition cannot be over-estimated and the money received from the sales goes to the maker of the goods sold and to no one else. If persons who plan on purchasing articles will remember that the goods are all handmade, then they will easily appreciate the difference in price between the goods on exhibition and machine-made goods.

An exhibition of cabinet making will be given during the show by one of the blind workers from Cambridge. The work table for this exhibition has been loaned to the committee by the Varian school. Miss Mary McCaffrey of North Andover, a blind girl, will give a demonstration in stitching on an ordinary sewing machine, and Miss Helen Ladd, of Boston, will show how the wool is spun that is used for weaving the household articles.

There will also be a demonstration of weaving on a hand-loom and of broom making by workmen from the various shops for the blind.

Workshop for Blind in Lowell

The purpose of the exhibit is to prove, by an educational campaign, that it is opportunity and not charity that blind people want, and to show what the state is doing for those who have been deprived of their sight. One of the state supervised workshops for the blind is located in Lowell. Ten men work in this shop, making brooms, repairing chairs and other like work. Henry Burke is in charge of this shop and has been for the past 15 years. Under his direction the shop has grown and the workers have become able to support themselves.

Edward Cooney is general chairman of the affair and Edward Gallagher is chairman of publicity. The Rotary club furnished all of the decorations and are also planning on visiting the hall in a body today.

The ladies and those in charge are as follows: Tea room, in charge of Normal school girls under the direction of Miss Eleanor Sutton today, and in charge of the D.A.R. tomorrow; hospitality committee for the blind visitors is composed of members of the Middlesex Women's club; the sales committee is headed by Miss Anna Devine and Mrs. Hawley; the Middlesex rug table, Y.M.C.A. auxiliary, Miss Ella Penn, chairman; knitted and crocheted goods, Y.W.C.A., Mrs. Walter Muesey, chairman; art fabric tables, Middlesex Women's club, Mrs. C. H. Humphrey, chairman, and the Ladies Aid society, Mrs. Carmichael, chairman; household goods tables, League of Catholic Women, Mrs. Alice Saunders, chairman, and the Middlesex Women's club; book table, Teachers' association, Miss Caroline Downey, chairman; teas and coffee, American Legion, Horatius Leggett, chairman; basket tables, Girls' City club, Miss Helen Ryan, chairman; Lowell Guild, Mrs. Owens, chairman; broom table, Notre Dame alumnae, Miss Anna Devine, chairman; Cambridge rug table, College club, and map table, Educational club, Mrs. Elizabeth Leggett, chairman.

A musical program will be given this afternoon and tomorrow afternoon and evening by Mr. Anthony Martone, accompanied by Joseph Marshall. Both of these men are graduates of the Perkins Institute.

Seek New Sources of Rubber Supply

WASHINGTON, April 24.—Harry W. Whitford, professor of tropical forestry at Yale university, has been named by Secretary Hoover to take charge of the federal investigation into possible new sources of rubber supply, authorized by the last congress. He will explore the possibilities of cultivation in the Philippines, South America and other tropical areas not now utilized for the purpose.

More Changes Among Naval Officers

NEW LONDON, Conn., April 24.—Captain Frank D. Berrien, who has been in command of the submarine base here for the past three years, is to be transferred in September to duty in the Philippines. Captain Ernest King, who has command of the 11th Division of submarines of the Atlantic fleet, will succeed Captain Berrien. Captain King's successor in the fleet, will be Commander Crast, who is now at the naval war college, Newport, R. I.

Sacco Removed to Bridgewater

BRIDGEWATER, April 24.—Nicola Sacco, convicted with Bartolomeo Vanzetti of a double murder and under treatment at the Boston Psychopathic hospital since his one month hunger strike at the Dedham jail, was removed today to the state hospital for the criminal insane, at Bridgewater. Judge Webster Thayer of the superior court, ordered him committed to Bridgewater for observation as to his mental condition until further order from the court after hearings last week at which alienists testified that he was suffering from mental disorder. Petitions for a new trial for the two men, who have never been sentenced, are pending. Vanzetti is in the state prison serving a term for another offense.

Commissioner Takes Over City Bank

YORK, Pa., April 24.—The state banking commissioner today took over and closed the City Bank, one of York's largest financial institutions. Examiners reported to the banking commissioner at Harrisburg today, that they had found indications of a shortage of $800,000.

PE-RU-NA

Mrs. Anna Linder, R. F. D. No. 1, Box 44, Dassel, Meeker County, Minn., writes: "For two years I suffered with that terrible disease, chronic catarrh. Fortunately I saw your advertisement and took Pe-ru-na. Now I am well and the mother of two children. I owe it all to Pe-ru-na. I would not be without that great remedy for twice its cost, for I am well and strong now. I cannot speak in too high terms of its value as a medicine."

For more than half a century Dr. Hartman's Pe-ru-na has been performing just such wonderwork as this.

Pe-ru-na is sold everywhere in both tablet and liquid form. Insist upon having genuine Pe-ru-na.

No Hair—No Money is our proposition

We have a new method of treating the scalp. It grows hair. It stops falling hair. Under actual recorded tests it grew hair on 91 heads in each hundred treated.

This is to offer it to you. Results are guaranteed. If we fail, it costs you nothing. Your own druggist signs the guarantee—we assume the risk.

The name is the Van Ess Liquid Scalp Massage.

Infected Sebum

According to authorities, over 90% of all hair troubles are traced to infected sebum.

Sebum is an oil. It forms at the roots of hair. Its natural function is to supply the hair with oil.

But frequently it becomes infected. It takes on the scalp, it plugs the follicles and chokes them. It forms a breeding place for bacteria—germs by the millions feed upon the hair and destroy it. It irritates, scalds, inflames. Soon total baldness follows. But it seldom kills the hair root. Remove the infected Sebum—normal hair growth usually follows. This is the fact. We guarantee results in writing under 2-bottle treatment plan.

Now Science Overcomes It

The Van Ess treatment removes the infected sebum and restores it. It penetrates to the follicles & the hair. It revives dormant hair roots and generally grows new hair.

We urge you to try it. Obtain it at your druggist's under 2-bottle treatment plan. Your money returned if results are not obtained.

POLITICAL BREAKERS AHEAD

From this time forward there will be much speculation as to political candidates and platform issues for the next national election. One of the most unusual phases of our political situation is that in which Lord Cecil is touring the country appealing to the masses in favor of having the United States join the League of Nations. It is as if we were a prominent statesman over to England to preach prohibition despite the fact that it has been turned down by the house of commons and by the people. We do not think he would be heard with as much tolerance as Lord Cecil is listened to here when he preaches the League of Nations, knowing that in the last national election, it was rejected by a sweeping majority. Lord Cecil evidently expects to see a change in sentiment, and he is doing all he can to bring it about.

Meanwhile, we fall to notice any indication of a swing back to the league by either party. The republicans will probably cling to the international court of justice and the democratic party will hardly dare take up the league issue again.

There are other issues of a local character that demand first attention. They will include the great transportation problem which at present is puzzling the statesmen of the country more than any other single issue.

Much will depend upon the candidates who will come to the front at the time for the election approaches. The names at present heard in this connection are those of Governor Smith of New York, Senator Edwards of New Jersey, Senator Robinson of Indiana and Henry Ford. There will be a clear line of demarcation between the "wicks" and the "fords," although few expect any change in the law except perhaps some modification of the Volstead act so as slightly to increase the alcoholic content. The various radical blocs will have to be dealt with and to engage in foreign entanglements while they are clamoring for reforms at home would be fatal. Both parties, it would seem, will have to confine themselves to home issues and let the foreign go with the usual declaration of a non-committal policy of sympathy with the European powers in their efforts to get back to "normalcy."

NATIONAL BANK TAX

Attorney General Jay R. Benton hopes to save the state of Massachusetts from the $7,000,000 fine if the legislature follows the recommendations he has just submitted to Speaker B. Loring Young at the request of the house of representatives.

Under a decision of the United States supreme court, Massachusetts is liable for the return of about $7,000,000 paid in taxes by national bank stockholders, unless the legislature enacts measures to ratify and confirm taxes levied upon these stockholders to the extent that they exceed the amount permitted by federal laws prior to an amendment of the federal statutes, which the supreme court has held did not give the states authority to tax national bank stock.

The attorney-general's recommendation comes in an opinion submitted at the request of the house that he explain the present status of the litigation involving validity of the national bank tax and the legislation now pending in congress.

Lowell national banks have been and still are greatly interested in the outcome of this "debate question." They have all along claimed that the former tax rates levied on national banking institutions exceeded the legal federal requirements, and the supreme court upheld that contention. It will be important to see whether or not the solemnity of Massachusetts will now see fit to make the decision and division of the state to prevent the tax rates banks from receiving the tax rebates apparently due them beyond all legal question or argument.

The matter has been discussed with much interest in local banking circles for many months. Not long ago The Sun published a story with interviews, covering the claims of the national banking institutions, of this city, which were now indirectly endorsed by the supreme court in its recent decision.

PULPIT GOLDSHEVITS

It is believed any attempt to get up and defend the religion of the soviet government of Russia, in executing high officials merely for their political activities, is a gross violation of their faith and a gross insult to the people of the soviet union. Yet we find that religious ministers, Rev. Dr. Grant, of New York, continue to preach in defense of the soviet regime in executive circles. As might be expected, these statements were met by the local clergy, who are now indignantly protesting to the supreme court in its recent decision.

Nonetheless, it is believed that these statements will be a great help to the soviet government in its efforts to get up and defend the religion of the soviet government of Russia, in executing high officials merely for their political activities, is a gross violation of their faith and a gross insult to the people of the soviet union.

These who are now being "Extra Dry" in England, the country would not be for prohibition, but that prohibition is not unworkable.

The national bar, the famous one, is always protesting that he is not only one who tells the truth.

It is reported for the first time that Germany is going to "come across" in order to save more trouble. We don't believe it.

HOW LONG WILL IT LAST?

How long will the present business boom or wave of prosperity last? The Commerce and Finance magazine put this question to 3000 leading business men all over the country. Until the last half of 1923, was the answer of 1140. Some time in 1924, predicted 550. Two years or more, said 327. It is an interesting straw vote. But they may all be wrong. Not one business man in 500 anticipated the 1920 crash far enough ahead to get into the cyclone collar and the lid down before the storm burst.

Of the 5000, by the way, 2250 predict a buyers' strike if prices continue to advance. If business thinks it can recoup all of its losses, incurred in the last panic, it is riding for a fall. If the speculators carry operations too far, they will cause inflation that will result in a climax and many failures. Moreover, unless our exports dispose of our surplus of manufactured goods, our stockpiles will be piled and then will cause curtailment of production. That would soon put an end to our prosperity. That and the speculative craze are two of our greatest industrial dangers. Industrial peace, of course, is another essential to the maintenance of our prosperity. Thus many factors enter into the probability; but for each individual and each business concern the best plan is to continue active work and make the most of every opportunity.

NO JITNEYS WANTED

The New Hampshire public service commission has just granted the Massachusetts Northeastern Street Railway company permission to discontinue its line from Polham Centre in New Hampshire to Meadow Brook in this city.

Will jitneys come later on? Possibly. The recent enactment of statutes by our state legislature, allowing street railway corporations in certain instances to apply for franchises to run jitney lines, has not proved effective for at least one large corporation—the familiar Massachusetts Eastern. The attempt of this corporation only a few weeks ago to obtain auto bus franchises in one of the Bay State shore cities in which street car lines have been abandoned, was turned down unanimously by the people of the "abandoned towns" refusing to let the Eastern corporation return in any way whatsoever as purveyors of public transit facilities.

ACTIVE COTTON SPINDLES

From the department of commerce at Washington is sent out figures showing the number of cotton spinning spindles in place in the various states on April 1. States in the lead had 16,302,713; all others 29,935,567; of the latter, Massachusetts had 11,293,961 with 10,925,388 active. An interesting calculation is given on the active spindle hours for March and the average number of hours per spindle in place by states for that month, which is as follows: Cotton growing states 314, all others 210; Alabama 294; Georgia 324; No. Carolina 321; Va. 310; S. Carolina 317; Massachusetts, 197; New Hampshire, 192; Rhode Island, 235; Connecticut, 229. These figures give an indication of the comparative length of the working day in the states mentioned.

The Interstate Commerce commission is restrained by a permanent injunction. That commission is one of the most obstinate in existence. It is responsible for some of the worst defects of our transportation system including the discrimination against New England.

When various parties are announcing that the Boston and Maine railroad is about to be absorbed, it increases wages for 4000 employees and keeps right on giving the usually poor service.

Will parents ever learn to teach their young children not to cross streets where autos are in sight? If they did, the number of children killed by autos would be greatly reduced.

The people of Lowell are beginning to inquire one more when they are likely to get a reduction in car fares so that it will not cost 10 cents to cross the city and return or to ride but a few blocks on either side of Kearney square.

THE HOUSE OF DAVID NEEDS A SPRING CLEANING

Paint up, clean up, is still a good slogan.

Now is the time to get busy on the house garden.

A Thought

Wherever there is authority there is a natural inclination to disobedience. —Hullington.

Black Magic

The story has just leaked out of a local colored fellow who paid a dollar during the Elk carnival to have his fortune told. The lady told him that he loved chicken, that he won some money on craps and that he had been in jail. The fellow gasped and said: "Such good jolly; you has told me my truest thoughts." —Pratt (Kan.) Republican.

"Come, Here Mine"

The war profiteer was enjoying a seat in a crowded street car when the comments of a doughboy hobbled in and took his stand in the aisle. Realizing that the occasion called for some display of courtesy, the seated gentleman reached out, buttonhole the other and whispered: "Stick around, old fellow. I'll be getting off in seven more blocks." —American Legion Weekly.

Was Glad to See Her

A naval officer entered a big store with his wife, and elected to stay near the passenger elevator while she made a few purchases at the counters. She was away a long time, and when eventually she did get back, he said, mopping his heated brow: "Gosh, Mary, I've glad you're returned." "Why, what's the matter, dear?" she asked. "Matter," and again he wiped his forehead with his handkerchief. "Why, exactly 50 people have asked me to run them up in the elevator."

The Quick Thinker

Educational sharpers claim that college life makes a man more alert mentally. The proposition is that you don't go to college to absorb a mass of general information—you go there to learn to think. A couple of magistrates were having an argument about it. To end it, one of them sent to the outer office for a college graduate in his employ. They asked him to state frankly if college life had made of him a quick thinker. "Yes," said he without hesitation. "The two years I spent on second base did me a world of good."

Next Train for India

Miss Gertrude Emerson, the writer, who has just returned to England from a two years' study of the people of India, said recently: "There is no woman question in India. Indian women are as blind to their privileges as the girl who married the barber. So you've married the barber, eh? Her former mistress said to her, 'Yes, I've married the barber,' said the girl complacently. 'Humph, and you gave him that $200 you had saved up, didn't you?' 'Yes,' said she. 'I gave him that $200.' 'Humph, where is he now?' 'He's off spending the $200 on his honeymoon, ma'am.'"

Knew His Wish

They had had chicken for dinner in a restaurant. "You see," he explained, as he showed her the wishbone, "you take hold here. Then we both make a wish and pull, and when it breaks the one who has the biggest part of it will have his or her wish granted." "That I don't know what to wish for," she protested. "O, you can think of something," he said. "No, I can't," she replied. "I can't think of anything I want much." "Well, I'll wish for you," he exclaimed. "Will you really," she asked. "Yes, indeed," he replied. "Well, I wish for nothing with the old wishbone." She returned with a glad smile. "You can have me!" Minneapolis Tribune.

It Made a Difference

Covington entered the hotel barber shop and stepped into a chair. "Good morning, stranger," the barber greeted him. "Good morning," Covington replied. "That's right, I am not quite a stranger. I thought you fellows made it a point to remember people." "We do," Paty confessed, in some embarrassment. "Well, you shaved me in this very chair a little less than three weeks ago," Covington informed him. "Indeed?" Paty exclaimed. "Well, I'll have to confess that I don't remember you face," he said. "I don't suppose I could expect you to," Covington admitted. "It has practically faded up, now?"

His Year Head

Why does a person "chock wood"? A shaver does not want his back to desert him. It is better to originate a new old English myth. According to the legend an old Danish sea captain, just before starting on a voyage, would always tap on the side of his ship and then stand in silence and listen for a few minutes. His belief was that if there were so many millions of their kind in the timbers of the ship, the elves of the wood would come out and bless the ship and insure it a safe return. Other Danish ship-owners followed this practice, and, strangely enough, at least so we are told, no vessels so submitted to this weird custom were lost at sea. As a result, the superstition became a custom which has lived to the present time. —London American.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

The exhibit of the blind at Liberty hall today and tomorrow is a marvelous exhibit of what men and women can do, even though they have lost one of their senses. If they are properly trained. The handicraft of these men and women is so marvelous that they are well fitted to support themselves and that the money spent by the state in their education is money well spent. Every person in Lowell should attend the exhibition if only to see what can be accomplished by the co-ordination of the senses left to make up for the sense that is gone. It is often said that a deaf person can see more clearly, taste more keenly and that all his other senses work better because of his deafness. The same applies to the blind. They cannot see but their other perceptive faculties are more finely trained than those of the ordinary human. As the representative of the state department for the blind said, "We want you to remember that although these blind have lost one of their senses they are still human beings and should be treated as such."

The day may come when American gluttons will eat bark beetle, gypsy moth, white pine weevil and other choice insects, predicts a new bulletin of the N. Y. State College of Forestry. It would help solve the problem of insect dollars worth of loss to forest, seven times as much from forest products. Impossible, an insect diet. Not necessarily. The college suggests: "It would only be necessary to have some movie star serve an insect luncheon, or for a member of the '400' to give an insect symposium, to place insect black-faced type on our bill-of-fare. . . . Not far from the truth, at that."

The male feminists who wear tattered trousers with girdles of bright sashes are eclipsed by the "Kibbois" youths who actually wear earrings. This zoological curiosity is reported as striding itself in Boise, Idaho. Get that? In Idaho, heart of the west. What a fine target the earrings would have made for Wild Bill Hickok. Shotgun Downing, Ed Master-son, Billie the Kid and other celebrities of frontier days! Many of the old-timers wore their hair long, but that was to show Indians they weren't afraid of being scalped. A clipped head wasn't worth scalping and was resorted to only by cowards.

It is highly probable that auto-touring parties will be more numerous during the coming summer than ever before. Many auto owners have arranged for camping parties and camping outfits so that they can make a trip across the country from ocean to ocean without resorting to hotels for lodging. They will probably patronize the restaurants of the cities through which they pass and sleep in the open after the gypsy style. The hotel keepers of the country are opposed to the growth of this practice; but they do not seem to be able to check it. Some cities have provided camping areas for such parties to spend the night. This is an accommodation which does not seem to offer any return to the cities for the expenditure incurred beyond having the camping parties visit the hotels or restaurants as a matter of necessity.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Case of Germany

Fall River News:—It is this consciousness of their failure to involve London or Washington that is bringing them to abandon their policy of passive obstruction of the Franco-Belgian recovery. Germany is in the worst of the world with the commission and refused word and coal deliveries needlessly. She had the money and supplies with which to pay. But with that fatal miscalculation of her own interest and her own weakness which has characterized her policy since the armistice, she has allowed her obligations to accumulate instead of meeting them as she could have done. She has gone on printing paper money till she has an incredible volume of paper promises to pay which can never be redeemed. Germany's floating debt on April 10 was seventy-two thousand billion marks. That had increased by 602,000,000 marks between April 1 and April 10. Who could see in such inflation anything else but repudiation?

Fewer Blind

Manchester Mirror:—Remarkable progress in decreasing the number of cases of blindness traced to preventable cause is disclosed by the United States bureau of census, which states that the number was reduced over five thousand in the ten year period preceding the last national commission for the prevention of blindness, whose work has been largely instrumental in conserving sight, attributed to the care of the eyes and campaigns designed to reduce eye hazards in industrial establishments.

In spite of the achievements of the committee for the prevention of blindness, there are in the United States about fifty thousand persons who are blind. Of this number, some twenty-five per cent were without sight at birth, and six per cent lost their vision from hereditary causes. The greater part of the remainder became blind through accident, or by neglecting incipient ophthalmia when prompt and skilled treatment might have saved them.

Manchester was the first state to appoint a commission on blindness, and since 1904, when the step was taken, twelve other states have fallen in line. The commissions, working in conjunction with the National Committee for the Prevention of Blindness, are fast spreading the doctrine of more care for the eyes and striving for a reduction of eye hazards in factories and other places where much work is being done among school children. The day may come when the blind in America will number only those who never saw the light of day.

VISITORS ENTERTAINED BY LOWELL K. OF C.

A large contingent of Lawrence K. of C. members were entertained by the local knights in the clubhouse in Dutton street last night. The down-river Canyons began to arrive about 7 o'clock for their scheduled tournament with the best in Lowell council, and a very enjoyable schedule of games, including whist, pitch, pool, bowling, billiards, and others, were carried out. John E. Hart, director of Grand Knight under the direction of John V. Donoghue, George F. Priskman, Michael F. Maloney, Dr. James F. Gaffney and James J. Molloy.

At the conclusion of the various games, all repaired to the beautiful assembly hall where a buffet luncheon was served and local talent entertained with songs, numbers and dances. William Dolan, financial secretary, was in charge of the group from Lawrence.

DOWNTOWN TRAFFIC PROBLEMS DISCUSSED

Downtown traffic problems were discussed last night at a meeting of the city planning board held at city hall and it was voted to have the secretary obtain figures relative to a preliminary survey of the business section in an effort to ascertain just what might be accomplished in the matter of relief.

All members of the board were present, including the ex-officio members, with the exception of Dennis J. Murphy of the public service board. Chairman Patrick O'Hearn presided.

In a communication to the board the chairman of commerce member to the convention of city planning boards to be held in Baltimore this month and the first three days in May and it was the wish of the board that Chairman O'Hearn represent the body, and it was so voted.

A report of progress was accepted from Clarence M. Weed and Benjamin S. Ponzaneri, named at a previous meeting to consider the possibilities of a permanent educational campaign to make Lowell a cleaner city. Boy Scouts and other organizations have offered to co-operate in any plan decided upon.

The dirty condition of Market street was discussed and also the presence of soot and coal dust in the Highlands. In regard to the latter it was voted to ask the city smoke inspector to attend the next board meeting.

SPECIAL TOWN MEETING

A special town meeting for the voters of Chelmsford will be held in the town hall, Centre village, next Monday night. The warrant, which has been posted, contains 20 articles, calling for appropriations totalling about $15,000. Among them items is one for $500 for the purchase of a new school truck, and one for $500 for coal for the school department. An extra $2000 is being asked for the maintenance of ways because of the great amount of snow during the winter. The police department is requesting $2500, while the West-lands district has sponsored an article for $2000 for street improvements in that locality.

SAVOR OF SALT

Oh, the breeze blows salt from the ocean reaches
Where the graybacks roll and the gray gull screeches,
And it's a salt sail the salt seas over,
A deep-sea salt and an ocean rover.

It's I would hear the faint stays singing
And watch the stars, from the foretop swinging,
With salt spray flying, the salt wind shrieking,
The white wake boiling, the steel plates creaking!

Where shall we go for our honeymooning?
Not where the soft land-breeze is crooning,
But out at sea, out at sea together,
Salt sea-lovers in the salt sea weather.

For it's you that know how the great deep calls you
And that have no fear of what fate befalls you,
So we'll walk the decks where the salt spume hisses,
With the smack of salt in our care-free kisses.
Where shall we go for our honeymooning?

This affair is yearly looked forward to by the many friends of the Lowell assembly and it presents plans can be taken as a criterion, this year's event promises to surpass any of previous seasons. Mr. O'Neill is chairman of a competent dance committee which has worked untiringly for the success of the first attempt at conducting the dancant in the new rooms. Broderick's orchestra will furnish the music for the general dancing which will continue from 8 o'clock until midnight.

HAITOWITSCH CONCERT THIS EVENING

Abraham Haitowitsch, the noted violin virtuoso who has been blind since the age of two, will give a concert of music for music lovers in the Memorial Auditorium this evening. Haitowitsch's work has won him such renown in other cities that the name alone should draw a large attendance, but in addition to hearing him, those who attend will be aiding the cause of the blind whose goods are on exhibition and sale in Liberty hall today and tomorrow for part of the proceeds of his concert will go to this good cause. The program arranged for tonight's recital is as follows:

Sonata for piano and violin by Hartini; Symphonie Espagnole by Lalo; Hymn to the Sun (Cinq des) by Rimsky-Korsakow-Kreisler; Indian Snake Dance by Burleigh; Hebrew melody by Achron; Perpetuum mobile by Rieg; Ave Maria by Schubert; Wilhelm, and Caprice No. 24 by Paganini-Auer. Henry Levine will be at the piano.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE ESSAY CONTEST

Below is Master William McMorro's answer to the question of the chamber of commerce essay contest, "How Can We Make Our Streets Safe For School Children?" Master McMorro is a student at the Edison grammar school and was awarded a gold Eversharp pencil by the chamber of commerce for his essay. Master McMorro's essay:

"The city of Lowell, like some other cities, has an instructor in safety whose duty it is to visit the various schools to teach the children the best methods of safety on the streets and crossings. These instructions, however, are too often unheeded.

"Detroit, one of the leading cities of the United States, has a special school for instruction in safety. In this school the older boys are taught the exact ways of a policeman to take care of the younger boys. The older boys are held responsible for the safety of the younger boys while coming from and going to school. Safety rules are posted and must be obeyed by all school children. To disobey any of these rules means a small fine for punishment.

"Other ways in which to insure safety would be to have special officers in different districts to take care of the school children at busy corners, streets and squares.

"There should be stricter laws and heavier fines for all careless or speedy drivers of all kinds of vehicles.

"All school children should be warned of the danger of riding on the back of heavy trucks, clinging to spare tires on automobiles, and most particularly the extremely dangerous act of riding on the back of a loaded ice cart. If the school children do not heed these warnings they should be punished.

"More signs should be placed near the different schools of the city with the reading, 'Drive Slowly School Here,' cautioning the driver to be careful while near the school.

"Every school child should be obliged to learn by heart the following rule for crossing the street, 'Stand on the sidewalk and look to the left, go to the right, then cross to the opposite sidewalk.'

"If the preceding rules were followed by the school children of the city of Lowell, I feel that there would be less carelessness and a smaller number of accidents."

BOSTON SYMPHONY ENSEMBLE TOMORROW

The Boston Symphony Ensemble returns to Lowell tomorrow, April 25, to give its postponed concert at the Memorial Auditorium. This is the last concert of the Moses Greley Parker orchestra and is likely to draw the largest crowd of the series.

The ensemble is composed of 25 members of the Boston Symphony orchestra and is under the leadership of Augustus Vaniman. On their first appearance here, last fall, they met with decided success and many have looked forward to their second coming with great pleasure.

The program arranged for this concert is even more popular than the first, introducing several numbers that are very well known. The opening number is the overture to "Tosca" by Puccini.

"Two for adults and one for children" is the phrase of health that has meant good digestion and a clear system to countless healthy, happy people the world over for the past 80 years.

women's visit to this country. The fourth number is from Debussy's ballet, "Pelleas et Melisande." The fifth and seventh numbers are from Wagner's "Lohengrin," the prelude and the introduction to act three, while in the seventh number, as a half section, is given a suite for strings alone, Glinka's "Babillage." The sixth number is Chalkovsky's "Allegretto con Grazia," and is typical of the Russian. The last is a Spanish suite, "La Folia," by Lacombe.

MILLIONS ARE NEAR THE BRINK OF RUIN AND DON'T KNOW IT, HE SAYS

Lowell Has a Vast Multitude on Physical and Mental Brink of Ruin—What Is Being Done to Bring Relief to Sufferers—Many Men and Women Give Their Testimony.

Mrs. Sallie King Wants the World to Know How She Was Quickly Relieved of Stomach Trouble—John Bassinger Says: "Your Grand Medicine Has Made Me Well and Strong Again."

"IT WORKED WONDERS—NEIGHBORHOOD SURPRISED"

"Physically and mentally on the brink of ruin, there are few sufferers who would not give anything that would restore to them their lives over again in health and strength," declares a well known authority on health and hygiene in a recent interview.

This place is full of half-sick people. Those who have gone to health resorts appreciate it; the others do not, and there is not one of them but in common sense would warn you against the dangers of neglect.

It is mostly stomach trouble that is making this a place full of sick people. Stomach trouble, its complications, and the many forms of kidney, liver, blood and bowel disorders that come mostly from stomach trouble.

Need of the first symptoms of stomach trouble brings more ill health and vicious diseases; the uneasy feeling after eating, gas belching, undigested food in the stomach, constipation, dizziness, spots before the eyes, shortness of breath, and many other little disorders may all be warning signals that something is wrong and will get worse unless attended to in time.

But there is good cheer and hope in the news that there has been introduced here a new food and herb medicine that is being pronounced a boon to all sufferers from stomach neglect. This wonderful natural medicine is called Dreck and is now being distributed at Green's Drug Store, 2 Merrimack street.

No matter how slight of long standing the case may be, no matter what kidney, liver, rheumatic or catarrhal complications may have set in, Dreck is promised to pave the way for quick recovery and return to health, strength and happiness.

Life Was a Constant Misery

"Life was a constant misery on account of stomach trouble, headaches and constipation," said Mr. Robert J. Cross, of 20 Askin street, Uniontown, Pa., in a signed statement. "I suffered terribly, pains in my side, and the muscles in my back seemed drawn up. My liver was sluggish and spots appeared before my eyes. I feel that everyone should know about this wonderful medicine Dreck, which has relieved all my troubles."

Gained 11 Pounds in Two Weeks

Mr. C. W. Miles, for 12 years with the Republic Rubber Co., of Youngstown, Ohio, says: "As I had as I need the money, I wouldn't take $1000 for what Dreck has done for me. My back ached so bad I felt like some one was jabbing a knife into me; I couldn't sleep for the awful pains I had. If anyone had shipped me on the back I would have fainted, but tonight I am a well and strong man again and owe it all to Dreck. It's wonderful what Dreck has done. There was a time I couldn't sleep at all but now I sleep soundly I don't hear the whistle blow in the morning. Why I gained 11 pounds in two weeks and I want to tell everyone about this wonderful medicine."

Dreck Within the Reach of All

These are just a few cases selected at random from the mass of signed testimonials received from scores of men and women in all walks of life. Who is there can doubt the plain straightforward statements of these people?

Dreck is not an expensive medicine. It is easy to get, easy to take and remarkably quick in its action.

Couldn't Finish Day's Work

Mrs. Jacob Maurer, of Route 7, of Greensburg, Pa., says: "Before taking Dreck I had aching pains in my back and arms. I couldn't finish a day's work but would have to give up and sit down. I had dizzy spells and my bowels were constipated. I became so nervous I could not sleep well and my appetite failed. Dreck has cured all this and I'm feeling like a new man. I've gained five pounds and am now going to Dreck to my 3-year-old son."

(Copyright 1922 by David H. Fulton & Bro. Baltimore.)

Go today to Green's Drug Store, 2 Merrimack street, ask for Mr. Frohlich, tell him you want Dreck, and he will conscientiously explain the merits of this great remedy. There is no charge and he will tell you if he believes Dreck will benefit you. Adv.

SPIRIT OF THE SOLDIER

Old Regular Army Man Re-enlists and Tells the Reason Why

The Organized Reserve proved a lure to another old regular army man when George W. Caldwell of 120 Methuen street, signed up as a sergeant in the 389th field artillery and has been sworn into the service by Major Tooney at the local office.

Mr. Caldwell has very definite ideas regarding military service in time of necessity and in a letter to Major Tooney stated as follows: "Why did I enlist in the reserve? Well, it was common all of us old timers will be drafted anyway, why not get in on the ground floor. I would consider myself a sucker if I did not."

Service in the Philippines, in Panama and overseas during the World war, is Mr. Caldwell's boast. He enlisted in 1905 in the cavalry and was sent to the Philippine Islands, serving there for three years and being discharged as a corporal. In 1913 he again enlisted, this time with the 4th infantry in Panama and was transferred from this to the Quartermaster corps in the

GEORGE W. CALDWELL

Philippines as a sergeant-chauffeur. From the islands he returned to Camp Johnson, Florida, and was assigned to a repair unit. On March 16, 1915, he boarded the U.S.S. President Lincoln and journeyed over to France. During his overseas service he drove transports in France, Belgium and Germany, and on more than one occasion had his convoy blown to pieces by enemy shells. On another occasion German airplanes riddled the convoys, and the men were compelled to flee for safety in the woods. At the end of the war he went into Germany with the Motor Transport Corps and stayed there until May 2, 1919, when he sailed for home on board the "Imperator." Upon his arrival in New York he was discharged as a sergeant after completing nine years and four months' service under the red, white and blue. His attitude towards the reserve corps and army service in the future is the attitude of a man who has seen the result of bringing untrained men into army service and he believes that the Organized Reserve is the medium through which this country's greatest land defense is to be built.

ADDRESSED MEN'S CLUB OF ELIOT CHURCH

Rev. Edward Talmadge Root, executive secretary of the Massachusetts Federation of Churches, was the speaker last night before the Men's club of the Eliot Union church. He took the place of Hon. J. Weston Allen, former attorney-general, who was forced to cancel his engagement because of an urgent call to Washington.

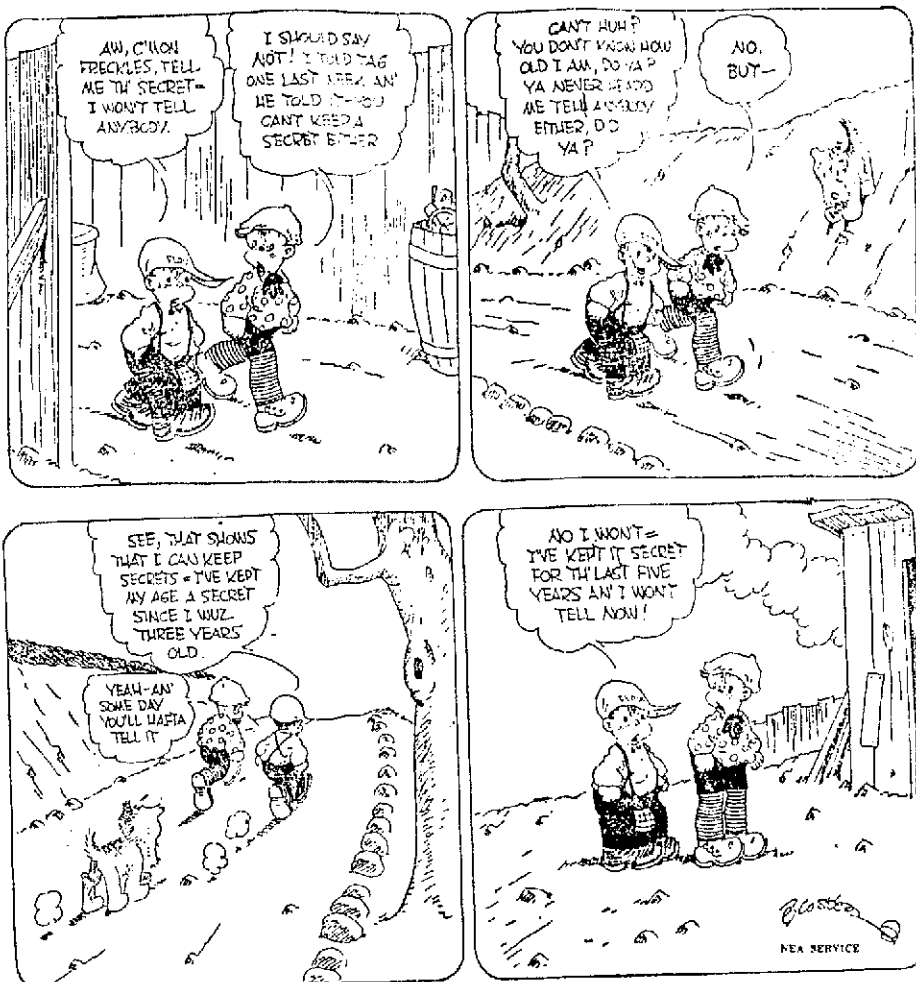

Rev. Mr. Root spoke on the topic, "The Challenge of the Times to the Churches," and during his interesting talk traced the trend and development of democracy in government and spoke of the extension of Christianity as the compelling force.

Preceding the address an excellent supper was served under the direction of a committee headed by George B. Holden, after which a brief business meeting was held.

MOTHOGRAPH CERTIFICATES
Certificates of mothercraft were presented at the Middlesex Women's club yesterday afternoon to 25 young girls, most of them Girl Scouts, as a result of having completed the course conducted by the club with the cooperation of Lowell Guild nurses. Miss Dorothy Waldo, assistant principal of Dana Hall school at Wellesley, addressed the girls and an elegant dinner bearing on the work completed in the mothercraft class was given by Miss Myrtle Dyer. After the meeting ice cream and cake was served.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

R. E. KETTER'S THEATRE

A Lilliputian master Gabriel, starting in "Captain Kidd," is headlined this week at R. E. Ketter's Theatre. He is given first position on a bill that is excellent from end to end and which met with general approval from last evening's audience.

"Captain Kidd" is a fantasy in three scenes which shows Master Gabriel every opportunity to portray his unusual ability, first as a school boy, then as a pirate leader and finally as a school boy again. The change from schoolboy to pirate holds comes through the medium of a deep prophetic punch delivered by a real-sized boy who represents the Lilliputian interest in clothing. Quinny, the school belle with a final "P."

Fred Fenton and Sammy Fields appear in black-face, as they have before, and for 15 minutes knock out comedy pills that are easy to take. Their dancing, of the eccentric type, is particularly good.

Grand new songs, sung well, are the offerings of Ed. Healy and Allen Cross and Peggy Brooks is another singer on the program who belongs on any first rate vaudeville circuit. Healy and Cross are 100 per cent action from first entrance to final exit and the audience follows them into the last night.

With generous applause, Miss Brooks puts over her numbers with a snap that can be heard all over the house.

Joe Rolland and Elsie Ray present "By Appointment," an act full of comedy, aided by the humor of Miss Ray who is easy to look upon as the maker of a splendid foil for the character of her partner.

The M.E.C. Trio are unusual entertainers, but you must see this act to really enjoy the "Gollywog" that comes all crated, P.O.B. stage.

Pictures from rags are made by the Farrells, Carley and Alfred, Topics of the Day, an Aeop Fable and other motion picture features add class to the bill.

RIALTO THEATRE

A double feature program which will compare favorably with anything shown at the theatre this season and which makes a splendid follow-up for the success of the theatre last week, opened a four-day engagement at the Rialto theatre yesterday afternoon with the showing of the two productions, "The Ninety and Nine" and "The Living Detective." Both offer a variety of excitement which introduce romance and thrill and the supporting attractions help to round out a great program. It is booked for Wednesday, Tuesday and Thursday of this week.

The picture, "The Ninety and Nine," is first of all a story of the woods, in which human interest and love are brought out in attractive fashion. There are plenty of thrills to keep the interest at a high pitch and the romantic life of the woodsmen and settlers and the story of the woodsman's life in the production and lends the story up to a fitting climax. It is filled with exciting scenes in which are featured a tremendous forest fire and through it all "The Ninety and Nine," the trusty old train engine, bursts and drags away its load of human freight out of the burning furnace and into the fertile plains.

"The Living Detective," the second picture on this well-balanced program, is a story of intrigue in which one man's life is matched against another man's life. An attempt is made to kill the detective through a mean poisoning scheme and it is only through the detective's final triumph that his persecutor is brought to trial. It is cleverly told and it holds the climax right up to the closing scene.

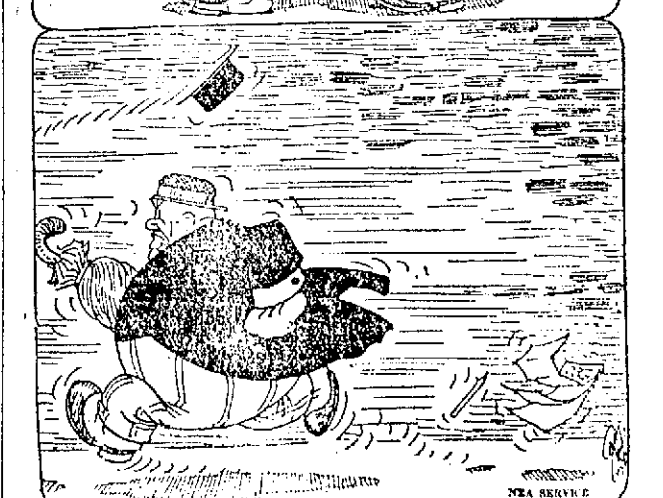

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Pola Negri made her Lowell debut in an American made film yesterday in "The Ninety and Nine" at the Merrimack Square theatre, delighting the thousands who attended the show to see the much heralded Pola. In a play made with the lavishness and splendor characteristic of the American.

The play opens in Venice where the Left on her own resources after her husband's imprisonment, she returns to London and becomes known as "The Blacksmith." Shunned by the better class of people, she becomes desperate and visits Dr. Isaacson (Clayton Kline), and he tells her her only chance is to start life all over again. She leaves his office completely discouraged and is stopped in her attempt to take refuge by a servant. Then comes Nicol Armine (Conrad Nagel) Egyptian explorer, who is engaged to the ward of Dr. Isaacson. He is attracted to the heroine's room by the sound of the struggle and from then on becomes a "truth" at the Lowell opera house this week by the Lilliputian players. It is an engagement with the doctor's ward is broken and he marries Pola Negri. They go to Egypt and then there is more trouble.

In this play Pola Negri has ample opportunity for showing her skill as an emotional actress, and it is in the scene where she is thrown into a cage, that she makes her highest success. The surrounding company is good and the scenery is wonderful.

"The Blacksmith," a comedy with Buster Keaton, is the other feature. The picture, and the second round of the "Lutheran" picture, a news weekly, and "Fun From The Press" complete the week's bill.

THE STRAND THEATRE
Elaine Hammerstein in "Under Oath" and Eugene O'Brien in "John Smith" pictures of exceptionally fine merit, possessing that quality of being able to hold the interest of an audience through a long program, leading to the bill at the Strand this week.

There is little to choose between the pictures as each carries an appeal to the varied taste of the movie public.

"Under Oath," featuring Elaine Hammerstein, is the old story of the stock exchange, suffering a serious breakdown as a result of a financial battle with a youngster, who has ruined him. The daughter and brother seeking a settlement are told that the marriage of the former to his brother Steve, a gambler, is the only settlement. She agrees, but on the day of the ceremony, Powers, the stock broker, calls off the marriage. His brother Steve is shot. Powers is accused, and on the stand refuses to tell his whereabouts the night of the murder. Elaine, who was with Powers clears the mystery, they promise to marry and all ends well.

"John Smith" is a mystery picture, bringing in the police and detectives. A detective, worth seeking at St. John in "The Alarm," holds the comedy touch to the varied entertainment. Song and musical bits from the musical comedy "Little Nellie Kelly," are over with the headlining picture, effects of the strand, and color to the program. The clippings collected by the literary digest are replete with humor.

A committee to consist of two representatives of the G. A. R., two representatives of the Spanish War Veterans, two representatives of the American Legion, one Gold Star mother, one Gold Star father, one Gold Star widow and one representative each from the Lowell Historical society, chamber of commerce, Lowell Art association, Daughters of the American Revolution, Middlesex Women's club, and League of Catholic Women, is in all, will be named on May 14 by the board of trustees of the Memorial Auditorium, assisted by the commandery of U. S. R. posts, U. S. V. V. and American Legion post, to make a careful study of the Auditorium and to report to the trustees their recommendations relative to the placing of all tablets, memorial and otherwise, which are to go in the building.

This decision was reached and accepted by formal vote at a meeting of the trustees held last night, attended by an American Legion committee. Trustee Thomas P. Boulger was present by illness from being present.

In detail, this committee will have the following recommendations to make to the trustees after giving the entire matter most careful consideration:

A—The number, design and location of all tablets.

B—The order in which tablets shall be placed and estimates of probable costs of tablets.

C—To determine the best method of system of securing names and service records.

The committee, it will be seen, is given full authority to handle the question in all its phases and not only will concern itself with memorial tablets, but all plaques, as well, including the bronze plaque now in Trophy hall, bearing the names of the building commissioners, architects and builder, which the American Legion desires to have moved to some other part of the building.

The matter of selecting the Gold Star representatives on the committee will be left in the hands of the commander of Lowell post, American Legion.

It is expected this committee will begin its work just as soon as its personnel is announced and no time limit is set for its report.

NEW CANDIDATES FOR PARK COMMISSION

In addition to Clarence M. Wood, present chairman of the Lowell park commission, whose term expires on May 1, there are at least three candidates for this position, Mayor John J. Donovan said today. No salary goes with the appointment, which is for a term of five years. Mr. Wood has been a member of the commission for ten years and for some time served as its chairman.

The mayor did not care to say who the other candidates are for Mr.

Wood's place on the board, but the name of Larine E. Kew has been mentioned on several occasions.

It is just possible that no appointment will be made, but that Mr.

ALL DOG BITE CASES SHOULD BE REPORTED

The board of health today received a communication from Eugene E. Kelly, state commissioner of public health, calling attention to the large number of persons bitten by rabid dogs in Massachusetts in 1922 and outlining preventive plans.

The active cooperation of all boards of health in a campaign to minimize the number of such cases in 1923.

Agent Francis J. O'Brien, speaking of the communication, called attention to the importance of reporting all dog bite cases to the board of health and urged that no dog be killed. Dogs who are known to have bitten a person or persons should be quarantined for observation. The pasteurization of dogs is urged as an absolute necessity.

Last year in the state 181 persons were bitten by dogs infected with rabies and of this number five died. Of the five fatalities only one person received the Pasteur treatment.

SUPERIOR COURT

The settlement of five cases called for the superior court, without trying them, caused a suspension of the activities of the court house today. Court will be called at the usual hour, ten o'clock, Wednesday morning.

Word would be allowed to continue as a member of the commission as a hold-over.

Cemetery Commission

Another vacancy which will occur in a municipal board on May 1 is the expiration of the term of Franklin S. Povey as a member of the cemetery commission. Mr. Povey, a Civil War veteran, would like to continue as a member of the board, it is said, and as far as is known there are no other candidates. No salary is attached to this position, either.

Local Real Estate Business is Booming

Owned by James H. Carmichael. The building contains 12 tenements and two stores and is located on about 5000 square feet of land. The sale was effected through the office of Alphonso Reardon and the sale price is said to be in the vicinity of $23,000.

Raymond M. Humphrey, the well known realtor, has sold in behalf of Patrick McLaughlin the splendid property at the corner of Walker street and Walker avenue. This consists of a building of seven seven-room flats with all modern conveniences, including steam heat, electric lights, set trays, etc., and 10,000 square feet of land. The building is located at 345 Walker street and 1-6 Walker avenue. The purchaser is Mrs. Eva Nichols, and the sale price is said to be in the vicinity of $20,000.

A portion of the old Flynn estate located in Concord st. and consisting of three stores and nine tenements, owned by George Brady, has been sold to Abraham Pressman of Lawrence. The sale was effected through the office of T. H. Elliott, assisted by George Lowrie at a price of about $5000.

Three cottages were sold yesterday and today by Edward P. Slater, Jr. The first consisted of a seven-room house at 4 Rockwell avenue, which was owned by Mary J. Dunn and which was sold to Robert H. Elliott, and resold to John Tavoralis and Nicholas Koumoutzias. The sale price in the last deal is said to be in the vicinity of $2500.

An eight-room cottage at 31 Saratoga street, owned by Henry G. Reardon, was sold to Joseph H. Makure for about $4000. The eight-room cottage and one-car garage at 65 Broadway, owned by George Demers, has been sold to James and Julia A. Newton for about $2500.

The Alphonso Reardon has reported another sale, that of the three-tenement block and 2000 square feet of land at 44 Lilley avenue. The sale was made to Narcisse Clement in behalf of Mrs. Caroline Gaudette. The price being $6500.

NEW VENTURE BY JAMES KARVELAS

Within the next few days Mr. James Karvelas, the owner of the Bay State shoe shop in Kearney square will open a new restaurant at the corner of Middlesex street and Central. With the opening of this business will come the gratifying of Mr. Karvelas' life-time ambition to enter the restaurant business in Lowell and serve the public with the best food well prepared and at prices so reasonable that any one eating there once will become a constant patron.

That Mr. Karvelas already enjoys the good will of the Lowell people is attested by the unusual success that has come to him in this hat repairing and shoe polishing business on Merrimack street for the last 20 years, and that he will give the same personal attention to his customers in this new enterprise that he has rendered in the past goes without saying and he cordially invites his friends to visit him on the opening day which will be announced in The Sun.

Mr. Karvelas is a leading member of the Greek community and resides with his family on Adams street.

phasizing the fact that as a teacher, nature has never been surpassed. To nature we must turn for the fullest of life and the joy of living. Who is the tried and true director of our habits, he said, and it is only when we stray from the teachings of nature that man becomes discouraged and unrestful. Social, business, political and religious issues may confront us with such binding force as to turn us away from the influence of nature and the beauty in life, but he declared that even then there would be a mysterious something in the heart of man which would draw him back to the proper basis of living if he would but respond to the call.

"Have you weary, down-hearted, saddened?"

Is there somewhere, something calling, calling?

Go to the wilderness, fragrant, song-laden.

Breathe inspiration—feel burdens falling, falling.

And you feel thankful you live this day.

Out in the wilderness, in the big, open wilderness, he continued, we come in contact with the untamished and forget the stress of business and social life. We cultivate a rare knowledge of beauty, sweetness and purity, which cannot be attained elsewhere, and upon our hearts there is impressed full evidences of the mightiness of the Great Creator.

In years past the naturalist declared, so little was understood regarding the value of our natural productions that little provision was made for the preservation of wild life, and as a result, the so termed big game, many of the fur bearers, song birds and other flora, destroyed, minerals taken and greed, everything in nature has been wasted and ignored for. And even in this age we are continuously destroying many things in nature.

We should fully realize that everything in nature is for our pleasure and profit, and the naturalist rejoiced that the boy and girl of today be given more education on this subject.

"Whenever we hear the young people singing 'America' about our woods and temples hills, let us ask ourselves if the boy and girl of today be given more education on this subject."

We do not need to bother our heads over Darwin's theories or what scientists may dig out of the earth in an attempt to tell us of our progress through past ages, for the things of the present and future are of far more importance.

Nature made America, and nature sustains America, and if we destroy the productions of nature we are destroying our prosperity. For the future welfare of our nation we must protect the productions of the wilderness, and the right step to that end is to instill in the hearts of the young true love for the big out of doors. And the more our boys and girls know about nature and her wonders, the better will they know and love nature's God.

Naturalist Schurr spoke before the general assembly in the Cyrus W. Irish auditorium of the Lowell high school at noon yesterday, and at 4 o'clock he spoke at the Moody school. Following his address at the Normal school this afternoon the naturalist lectured before the pupils of the Bartlett school.

Mr. Schurr, who hails from Pittsfield, has spoken at various institutions of learning here, including the Notre Dame academy.

Council to Take Final Action

them in their deliberations upon the matter.

It is expected the opinion will deal largely upon whether the city has the right to close these two public streets and the question of public convenience and necessity raised at both subsequent hearings by Attorneys John M. O'Donoghue and William A. Hogan, representing remonstrants to the petition. Both these men raised the issue that no public convenience and necessity demands such a demand the city is powerless to act.

If the opinion of the solicitor is favorable to the petitioners or, in other words, states that the city has a right to close the streets in question, it is probable that the matter will be settled tonight. The question of liability for property damages may arise, in fact, it is probable that it will, for it has been advanced several times by opponents of the proposition.

At the last meeting of the council, at which the second public hearing was held, and definite plans of expansion outlined by representatives of the Saco-Lowell Co., Councilor Frank K. Stierman moved that a meeting be held tonight for the purpose of receiving the opinion from the city law department and final action on the company's petition.

Public service board loans in the amount of $1000 will come before the council tonight for final action, and if passed will allow the street department to begin its spring and summer program of work. One loan for $50,000 is for macadam paving, another for $50,000 is for sewer construction, another for $50,000 is for black paving and one for $10,000 is for the construction of new sidewalks.

In addition it is expected that an order calling for an appropriation of $1000 to defray expenses of the new planning board will be introduced for consideration.

It also is possible that some action will be taken on the order introduced at the last meeting by Councilor Frederick A. Sadler, providing for the transfer of $10,000 from general treasury to the police department for the appointment and employment of more regular patrolmen. This order was read at the last meeting, but no action followed.

An amendment to the zoning ordinance, presented and sponsored by Councilor John W. Daly, also will be before the council for final disposition.

AN ALUMNI FEDERATION LOWELL DISTRICT COURT

Plan Alumni for All Schools
Under Direction of Marist
Brothers

A movement is on foot among the members of St. Joseph's college alumni of this city, for the formation of a federation of alumni of the various schools of New England, which are under the direction of the Marist brothers.

At present the Lowell and Lawrence schools of the Marist brothers have an alumni and plans are being made for the organization of similar societies among the former pupils of the Manchester, Haverhill and Trowbridge schools.

St. Joseph's college alumni of this city was organized over ten years ago and has been very prosperous. A few weeks ago the former pupils of St. Anne's school in Lawrence, which is now under the direction of the Marist Brothers, formed an association and the installation of the newly elected officers will take place in a couple of weeks.

Word has been received from Manchester to the effect that the former pupils of the Marist Brothers' school there are planning the formation of an alumni, and it is said that a similar movement is on foot at Doughtyville, N. Y., where the mother house of the order is located. As soon as the two latter places have organized, a committee of young men from the Lowell alumni will be formed and negotiations will be started for the formation of a federation, the purpose of which will be to bring together the young men of New England, who received their early training from the Marist Brothers. It is felt that such an organization would prove of great benefit to its members and would also be of assistance to the boys, who are attending these various schools. The federation movement is being sponsored by Joseph F. Montminy and Arthur H. Groux, president and financial secretary, respectively of the St. Joseph's college alumni.

BIDS OPENED AT CITY HALL

The following bids were opened by the city purchasing agent today:

Lumber for buildings department—Pratt & Forrest, $20; Burnham & Davis, $804.

300 barberry plants for park department—Mrs. Brooks, $32 per hundred; N. E. Nurseries, 20 cents each; James McManis, 25 cents each.

NEEDLESS ALARM

Fearing that a lighted candle dropped in a closed in a fire, street house, the firemen would cause a blaze, the woman of the house sent in a still alarm. The firemen responded, but when they reached the premises they found the fire had been extinguished when it hit the floor.

FIRE REVEALS MENACING HAZARD IN HEART OF CITY

Blaze Believed to Be of Incendiary Origin Summons Department to John Street—Excelsior Found Jammed Under Floors in Ramshackle Building

One of the worst fire hazards in the city was uncovered shortly before 3 o'clock this afternoon when fire, believed to have been of incendiary origin, was discovered in the rear of a three-story brick block numbered 22-24 John street, owned by the Union National bank.

Great bundles of new excelsior were found jammed under the floors in the rear of the building. A woman on all which jut out about 15 feet into an open area and more highly inflammable material was pulled out of cracks and crevices by firemen. To all appearances a deliberate attempt was made to destroy the building.

George H. Chandler, assistant cashier of the Union bank, watched the fire.

"It looks like a deliberate attempt on the part of someone to burn the property," he said.

"It is one of the boldest attempts to destroy a building I have ever seen," said Chief Edward F. Samuels.

The fire itself did not amount to much, but in putting it out with chemical lines firemen pulled into view one of the dirtiest accumulations of refuse imaginable.

One or more families live on the second and third floors of the building in the front and if the fire had occurred at night, serious consequences might have resulted.

It is difficult to believe that such a filthy condition exists within a stone's throw of the principal downtown streets, and in the opinion of Chief Samuels, the building is in a deplorable condition. Rooms within the wooden ell where the fire got started were ankle deep with refuse. They were unoccupied.

A woman living upstairs in the building discovered smoke and the alarm box at John and Paige streets was pulled by Olanee Kufabin, a barber, with shop next door.

Emphatically Denies Action Would Mean Entry Into League of Nations "By the Side Door, the Back Door or the Cellar Door"—Recalls Pre-election Promises and Says if Parties and Candidates Do Not Mean What They Say Then Our Form of Government is Based on Fraud and Cannot Hope to Endure

NEW YORK, April 24.—Participation by the United States in the world court as proposed by the administration, President Harding today declared, "cannot hope to endure."

But the president left no doubt that the annual luncheon of members of the Associated Press, would be "in harmony with party platform pledges, constitutional promises and American aspirations" and would not be an entry into the League of Nations "by the side door, the back door, or the cellar door."

"Excessive friends" of the league, the president declared, have founded the situation by an unwarranted assumption that the proposal is a move toward membership in the league while, he added, the irreconcilable opponents of the league have also clouded the question with the assumption that entering into the league would unavailingly follow.

The fear of outlying states the president dismissed with the blunt declaration that if the senate were to consent to any, his administration would not complete ratification of such a proposal and would thereby prevent it from becoming effective.

Reiterating his conviction that the United States could participate in the world court without assuming the risks which his opponents point out, President Harding reviewed the republican party platform since 1901, all of which he pointed out, spoke for a world court of arbitral justice, and added:

Must Keep the Faith

"I believe in keeping the faith. If political parties do not mean what they say, then our form of government is based on fraud and cannot hope to endure."

PRESIDENT HARDING

United States entering the League of Nations. It doesn't propose to enter now by the side door, the back door, or the cellar door. I have no intention of making any such comment to offer on the league. If it is serving the old world helpfully, more power to it. But it must for us. The senate has no doubt. Nothing could be more decisively stamped with finality."

Not Menace to Party Unity

Mr. Harding made it plain that he did not consider the world court question paramount to all other national problems and added that neither did he hold it a menace to party unity, evidently having in mind the warning issued by some republican leaders within the last few weeks.

"It ought not to be classed as party question," he continued, "but if any party repeatedly advocating a world court, is to be rebuffed by the suggestion of an effort to perform in accordance with its pledges, it needs a new approach of its assets."

Political "Bugbear"

Sounding one of the principal arguments to be used by opponents of the administration proposal, the claim that the United States would be placed at a disadvantage in the election of judges to the court voting the disparity in the national voting power in the league assembly, the president said he firmly recognized this as a "political bugbear" but added that inasmuch as no nation could have more than one judge, it was less of an issue than it was made out to be.

Rheumatic Pains Go Swollen Joints Vanish

Rheuma—The One Safe and Quick-Acting Remedy for Rheumatism, Gout and Sciatica. Money Back If It Doesn't Satisfy.

Thousands of sufferers have freed themselves from the bondage of rheumatism; rid themselves of the torturing pains; reduced the swollen joints; thrown away canes and crutches; and from helpless beings became able to work and be of use to themselves and their families.

They took Rheuma; the modern remedy of rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, arthritis, gout and chronic neuralgia. Don't be skeptical about Rheuma. You will know in a few hours after beginning the treatment that the poisonous uric acid is leaving your system through the natural channels. You will feel better in a day; you will know that you are going to be helped in less than a week.

Don't think because Rheuma is not expensive that it won't bring you back to health. There is no guess work about it. That's why Green's Rheuma and good druggists everywhere sell it with guarantee of money back. It does not give quick and blessed relief almost at once.—Adv.

FATHER FOUND TWO-YEAR-OLD BOY VERY SICK

Was Constipated, Thin, No Appetite, Had Swollen Lips, Stomach Pains

A hardy woodsman and enthusiastic fisherman of Maine, has a very interesting record to report. He writes: "As a boy thirty-seven years ago, I began to take Dr. Tru's Elixir, the True Family Laxative and Worm Expeller, after six months' hard work. I came out of the woods and found my two-year-old boy very sick. He was thin, had a swollen lip, had swollen lips, pains in stomach, was suffering from constipation for months.

"I had not been in the house an hour when an elderly lady—a good neighbor—came in and told my wife to get a bottle of Dr. Tru's Elixir, saying she had seen numbers of similar cases which it had relieved.

"My boy was given a half dozen doses of Dr. Tru's Elixir, when he passed a lot of worms and right away began to show improvement; he began soon to eat with a relish, play around and look healthy. He did not have to take a full bottle, and in later years whenever he got a bit food, a few doses would straighten him out."

"When I get constipated, a couple of tablespoons of Dr. Tru's Elixir, the True Family Laxative and Worm Expeller, do me good."

"My son is grown up now and has a family of six children, and he is

Pres. Harding Makes Plea for World Court

objection than when applied to the League itself. Although the question of a world court formed the burden of the president's address, he also spoke a word for the establishment of a permanent peace organization of great and lesser nations, and urged that the primary be made an agent of international peace, rather than a means of party confusion or destruction.

TEXT OF ADDRESS

The address of the president followed: "Members of the Associated Press: During the closing days of the last Congress I sent to the Senate a communication asking its advice and consent to the adherence by the government of the United States to the proposed establishment of the International Court of Justice. Out of this simple, natural, normal proceeding has developed so much of mystery, so much of misunderstanding, so much of protest and approval, so much of threatened meddling of the political waters that I welcome the opportunity on so appropriate an occasion, to reveal to the American people both the purpose and the motives impelling.

"Ours is a popular government through the agency of political parties, and it must be understood that the course of the successful party, which is at the same time an honest party, must be fairly charted by the platform of that party, and by the utterances of its candidates when appealing for popular approval. On that assumption it is seemly to recall the declarations of the party now in power relative to the promotion of international relations with guarantee of money back. It does not give quick and blessed relief almost at once.—Adv.

Renew Party Pledges

"In that the national platform of the Republican party said 'We favor the peaceful settlement of international differences by arbitration.' Four years later, in the national convention of 1908, the party in its platform alluded to progress made in keeping faith with the previous declaration, and said: 'The conspicuous contributions of American statesmanship in the cause of international peace so strongly advanced in the League conference are occasions for just pride and gratification. We endorse such achievement as the highest duty of a people to perform, and proclaim the obligation of further strengthening the bonds of friendship and good will with all the nations of the world.'

Explicit Declaration in 1912

"In 1912, the Republican platform made a very explicit declaration relating to an international court of justice. I quote from the party document of faith: 'Together with peaceful and orderly development at home, the Republican party earnestly favors all measures for the establishment and protection of the peaceful of the world, and for the development of closer relations between the various nations of the earth. It believes most earnestly in a peaceful settlement of international disputes and in the reduction of all controversies between nations to an international court of justice.'

"The next formal and solemn pledge was made in 1916. I quote again:

"The Republican party believes that a firm, consistent and courageous foreign policy, always maintained by Republican presidents in accordance with American traditions, is the best way to the only true way to preserve peace and restore to us our rightful place among nations. We believe in the peaceful settlement of international disputes and favor the establishment of a world court for that purpose."

"In 1920, the question of our foreign relationship was very acute. The Senate had rejected the Versailles treaty and the League of Nations pact. The convention voiced its approval of the rejection, but was unwilling to pledge abstinence from the world. Therefore I said in its platform pronouncement: 'We pledge the coming Republican administration to such agreements with other nations of the world as shall move the fulfillment of America's obligation and humanity; in accordance with American ideals, without surrendering the right of the American people to exercise its judgment and its power in favor of justice and peace.'

"As a participant in the making of some of these platforms and as the hearer of one campaign, I have a right to believe that the party conscience so plainly that it is not easy to misconstruct.

Government By Law vs. Government By Men

"You there are other utterances which it is seemly to recall. I allude to the inauguration of the platform by the candidate in 1920. On August 28, 1920, speaking on the League of Nations proposal, I said, frankly and very definitely, I did not favor the United States entering the League of Nations. It was declared then the issue, as defined by the candidates, involved the disparity between a world court of justice, supplemented by a world association for conference, on the one hand, and the council of the League on the other. Quoting further from the same address, I said: 'The one is a judicial tribunal to be governed by fixed and definite principles of law, administered without passion or prejudice. The other is an association of diplomats and politicians whose determinations are sure to be influenced by considerations of expediency and national selfishness. One is a government of laws and one a government of men.'

"In that same address I commended the Hague Tribunal. One paragraph is particularly appropriate to quote afresh:

"I believe humanity would welcome the creation of an international association for conference and a world court whose verdicts on justiciable questions this country, this common with all nations, would be willing and able to uphold. The decisions of such a court or the recommendations of such a conference, could be accepted without sacrifice on our part or asking any other power to sacrifice one iota of its nationality."

Must Keep Pledges and Promises

"So much for political party history. I have quoted it because I believe in keeping faith. If political parties do not mean what they say and candidates do not mean what they say, then our form of popular government is based on fraud, and cannot hope to endure.

"In compliance with its pledges the new administration, which came into power in March, 1921, definitely and decisively put aside all thought of the United States entering the League of Nations. It does not propose to enter now, by the side door, the back door, or the other door. I have to unlearn my habit of seeing the end of the world before the power to it. But it is not for us. The Senate has so declared, the executive has so developed, the people have so declared. Nothing could be more decidedly stamped with finality.

"In further keeping of the faith, the administration made a treaty of peace with Germany, a just treaty which so impressed our war-time enemy, that when we came, later on, to set up a mixed claims commission to settle the claims of American nationals against Germany, that nation named one commissioner, we named one, and then, for the first time in the history of international relationship, Germany asked us as a contending nation, to name the umpire, the third member, whose vote would decide all differences. I know of no like tribute to a nation's fairness in all the records of history.

Limitations of Armaments

"Then in the fulfillment of the pledge of free conference, the international conference on the limitation of armaments was called, not in haste, but because someone was prodding, not as early as the barriers to success could be removed. The spirit of that conference and the achievement wrought have been written into history, and will grow unimpairedly beyond the almost universal popular favor already accorded. There was no compromise in reducing naval armaments, and ending competition which was leading to oppressive naval strength and adding staggering burdens to the treasuries of competing nations; not alone the removal of every war cloud and every reason for conflict in the Pacific so that now accord and concord abide, where suspicion and fear had previously dwelt; but we gave an example to the world of the conference way to peace, which time will appreciate as the supreme accomplishment.

"Hardly had this gratifying work been accomplished before the administration began its endeavors for further fulfillment. Meanwhile an international relationship Germany had been established.

Agency of Peaceful Settlement

"It was an agency of peaceful settlement which had long been sought, its establishment previously had failed because no agreement had been possible over the method of electing judges. The existence of the League of Nations offered a solution. Almost all the member nations had signed a protocol establishing the court. The members of the council, in which the great powers have permanent representation, afforded one voting body with a veto on the members of the assembly consisting of representatives of all the nations and member nations of the assembly could have a veto on the larger powers represented in the council. Here was a device for electing judges which removed the heretofore unsolvable problem of a satisfactory means of selecting them. Not the least, but the member nations themselves, by a majority of the same candidates for which members of the assembly voted in a majority, else the election is void until a conference points the way to agreement."

"The court was established and is functioning. An American judge sits on the court, though we had no part in choosing him.

Fulfillment of Aspiration

"Under the provisions of its establishment, the United States can apply for a court decision on any justiciable question, even as any nation participating in its establishment. Perhaps the court is not all that some advocates of the court plan would have it, but it is in a large measure the fulfillment of an aspiration we long have boasted. So I thought, and still think, we ought to be a party to the appearance and give to it the benefit of such influence as our size and wealth and ideals may prove to be.

"For more eligibility to appeal to the court nothing was needed. But it didn't seem fair to seek its advantages without accepting all becoming responsibilities, and here developed the stumbling block. Naturally we should wish to participate in selecting the judges, and the electors designated, were members of the league. We had thought of joining the league, we sought none of its offerings and will accept none of its obligations. The president could propose no solution to the signatory powers, because the world has witnessed in disappointment the spectacle of the executive proposing and the senate disposing. It was not desirable to make some proposal abroad that could not be carried out; indeed, none would be considered, and it was not pleasing to think of asking the senate's consent to a program to

Rheumatic Neuritis

Says His Prescription Completely Banishes All Rheumatic Pain and Twinges—Is Guaranteed

Deep Seated Viscid Acid Deposits Are Dissolved and the Rheumatic Poison Starts to Leave the System Within Twenty-Four Hours

Every doctor in the country is authorized to prescribe a powerful rheumatic sufferer. It is a fact that the cure of ALLENBURY, the same compound of rheumatism, does not show the way to get up the arteries, reduce swollen joints and do away with even the slightest twinges of rheumatic pain, he will gladly return your money without comment.

ALLENBURY has been tried and tested for many years and has been accomplished in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and protracted and where the patient was helpless.

Mr. James H. Allen, the discoverer of ALLENBURY, who for many years suffered the tortures of acute rheumatism, dears all sufferers to know that he did not want a cent of anyone's money unless ALLENBURY definitely relieved this worst of all diseases, and he has instructed druggists to guarantee it as above in every instance. All druggists can supply you.

Those who served last year, who had applied for service this year and who were reappointed, are:

Berman, Anna; 195 Hale street.

Brown, Rose; 114 Howard street.

Blain, Ruby; 150 Pawtucket street.

Moran, Lillian; 17 Lincoln street.

Kelley, Mary; 11 Cedar street.

Mann, Helen; 182 Third street.

Sullivan, Bessie; 55 Pleasant street.

Brown, Barbara; 11 Robbins street.

Coffey, Estelle; 183 Wilder street.

Desmond, Lucy; 185 Stackpole street.

Stocks, Esther; 141 Parkview ave.

Dowd, Mary; 220 West sixth street.

Boone, Ann M.; 329 Lincoln street.

Dudley, Agnes; 126 Coburn street.
Leach, Vera; 103 Durant street.
Gallagher, Martha; 131 Cumberland road.
Martin, Edward; 125 Nennith street.
Lynch, Arthur; 87 Fort Hill avenue.
McAdams, Brendan; 73 321 High street.
Markham, Edwin; 75 Chauncy street.
Condon, Edward; 95 Midland street.
Elliot school baths—Charles McCabe, 70 Oak street.

Because of increased playground activities this summer, six more regular instructors will be employed than last year, when the number was 35.

The commission took definite action on the seizure of two tracts of land in Pawtucketville for park and playground purposes when orders to take by right of eminent domain were signed for the Ayer land off Mammoth road and land along the river bank just below Pawtucket bridge, occupied at present by buildings of the old iron factory, so-called Preparatory action already had been taken, but the actual orders of seizure were not signed until last night. The Ayer land will be used as a play area, while the tract at the river bank will be developed as a part of the river-bank parkway.

At the request of Rev. William F. McMahon, O.A.U. chaplain of Lowell post, American Legion, the board voted to grant the use of the South common on Memorial day for a military mass.

The commission considered the request of Councilor Arthur B. Chadwick for the seizure of a rectangular plot of land at the junction of Carliale and Gorham streets, but after some discussion thought the tract might better be taken by the street department and made into a permanent part of the roadway at that point.

The mother of John T. O'Donnell, World war hero, for whom the old Fair Grounds land was named, appeared before the board relative to the condition of the land and urged steps to place it in a more respectable condition. Considerable promiscuous dumping has been going on there and the result has not been good. As it is planned to dedicate this tract on Memorial day, the commission voted to take immediate action on Mrs. O'Donnell's suggestion.

On the recommendation of Suplt. John W. Kavan, the board voted to have permanent bleachers erected on the Summer street slope of the South common.

THE LOWELL SUN TUESDAY APRIL 24 1923

the measure. The bill was passed to be engrossed on a roll-call 121 to 94. Reps. Henry Achin, Jr., Owen E. Brennan, Thomas D. Corbett, Victor F. Jewett, Fred O. Lewis and Charles H. Blowers, all voted against passing the bill.

It now goes to the senate. It is any man's guess as to what will happen to it in the upper body. It will probably be a close fight although present indications favor the bill going through.

The bill placing the prohibition question on the ballot at the next state election, introduced by Rep. Elijah Adlow of Boston has been referred to the attorney general by the house committee on bills in third reading. The bill would allow voters to express their opinion as to whether or not congress should attempt to repeal the Volstead act or modify it. It would be an expression of the opinion of Massachusetts voters to their congressmen. Some of the legislators are afraid to pass it and they are hoping it will come from the attorney-general's office labelled "unconstitutional."

Rep. Adlow made a bitter attack on the bill during the debate yesterday. He declared that if the measure is passed by the legislature it will be one of the "most vicious liquor acts ever placed on our statute books." He declared that police officers under the bill could go into a house without a search warrant and molest decent people and respectable citizens merely because they suspected them of having liquor. Some of the officers wouldn't even suspect them of having liquor, he said, but might go in because they have a grudge against those people. Anyone who makes a quart of wine for his own use in his own house can be arrested. He declared that no legislation that is passed can remedy present conditions and will only result in more trouble.

Rep. Louis L. Green of Cambridge, in charge of the bill, denied the accuracy of Rep. Adlow's statements and declared that it would be impossible for an officer to enter a house without a warrant. Rep. Harold R. Gowney of Fitchburg, a dissenter from the report of the committee on legal affairs, said that the Massachusetts law permits evidence obtained by search warrant to hold one bill up while this one was acted upon. He defended his support of the enforcement act last week and declared that he felt obliged to favor the bill in order to support the enforcement of the prohibition.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—Secretary Hughes announced today that the American commissioners to negotiate for a closer understanding with representatives of the Obregon government in Mexico City, would be Charles B. Warren, of Detroit, former ambassador to Japan, and John Barton Payne, former secretary of the interior, and now chairman of the Red Cross.

BREATHLESS AFTER CLIMBING STAIRS

A Condition That Generally Points to Anemia or Thin Blood

To be short of breath after slight exertion is such a common symptom of an anemic or bloodless condition that doctors have come to call "the staircase test" one of the regular methods of diagnosing thin blood. When this shortness of breath is accompanied by pallor of the cheeks and lips it is advisable to build up the blood. This was the experience of Mrs. Albert Dammers, of No. 26 Payson avenue, Dorchester, Mass. She says:

"For the benefit of others who may be saved a great deal of suffering, I would like to tell how I regained my health. I was very thin and did not have a bit of color. I was so weak that a little effort caused shortness of breath and when I climbed up stairs I was left practically exhausted. My nerves were so unstrung that I had crying spells and could not control myself. My sleep was not refreshing. I had no appetite and suffered from severe pains across my back. I also had headaches a great deal and became very melancholy. "I read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and remembering that I had heard from friends how good they were I got a box and in a short time began to feel a little better. Soon the headaches disappeared and as I continued taking the pills the color returned to my cheeks and lips. I have a good appetite now and feel stronger and better in every way, thanks to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills." "These pills are a body-building tonic. They increase the power of the blood to carry new life and energy to every part of the system. If there is no organic trouble this is almost sure to result in benefit that the patient quickly notices in increased appetite, better digestion, sound, refreshing sleep and general good health. "Get a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills today from the nearest drugstore if you are not feeling as well as you should and see what this tonic treatment will do for you. Write to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for free booklet, "Building Up the Blood."—Adv.

TO ATTEND Y. M. C. A. WORLD CONFERENCE

Boys' work secretary, Thomas R. Williams, of the Lowell Y.M.C.A. will represent this city at the second World's conference of Y.M.C.A. workers with boys, which will be held at Portschachan Sec. Austria, May 30 to June 10. Nine hundred representatives from 36 countries are expected at this conference, to discuss the place of boyhood in the nations of the world and the relation of the association thereto. Business and professional men who have associated themselves with the activities of the Y. will attend the meeting of delegates. Lewis A. Cross, a manufacturer of Boston, Dr. May A. Faxon, director of the department of educational measures of the American Social Hygiene association, Cameron Beck, personnel director of the New York stock exchange and many others of note will be present. Dr. John R. Mott, international secretary of the Y.M.C.A., says that the most remarkable generation of boys that this world has ever known is the one coming forward. Given better adult these boys and great responsibility will come on this particular generation. The work formulating plans for the guidance of this generation of boys in the right path, will be the main work of the conference.

RADIO ROBERT

Meet Radio Robert—and this is the truth—He knows all about what goes on in Duluth. In far off Missouri no big news can break. But it always will find this smart fellow awake. For he recently purchased a radio set and there isn't a station that Robert can't get.

He loves bedtime stories of rabbits and sheep. When insomnia threatens they put him to sleep. He likes to hear health talks—he gets good advice. And he isn't required to pay a stiff price. If he's tired and feels he's in need of a thrill. The police reports give him far more than his fill.

"I once heard from Cuba," said Robert to me. But I'd rather not hear from those birds we get free. They can sing very sweetly and play lovely tunes. About waving palm-trees and tropical moons. I can stand all that nonsense, but it isn't good cheer. To recall that the Cubans can always have beer!

"In the old days we fought or we went to a show. Sometimes to a dance to the Town Hall we'd go. We'd take a short spin through the country and back. Or sit into a game and lose most of our luck. Now we stay in the kitchen and save our spare tin. And guess what? Uphear from Minn's sports, Minn. J. K. COLTON in Gardner News

How to Banish Piles

Thousands Bless Dr. Leonard, the Physician Who Discovered This Common Sense Remedy

If you think that the surgeon's knife is the only method of curing Piles, you are in error. It is because you haven't heard of the new treatment known as Dr. Leonard's HEM-ROD. The doctor's treatment is a natural, non-operative method for curing Piles. It is the exact cause of Piles and then went further and compounded a remedy that would remove the cause. Dr. Leonard's HEM-ROD is a remedy that is so simple and so safe that there will be no bleeding or delay. Green's drug store and all druggists are authorized to sell HEM-ROD with guarantee that it will do as stated or money back. On that honorable basis every sufferer should have a package of Dr. Leonard's HEM-ROD today. Adv.

Opening of Exhibit In Liberty Hall

Representative of the state board of education for the blind, was in general charge of the affair, and in addition to the local committee, had several assistants from the department to aid her.

The hall was prettily decorated with streamers hung from the balcony and from the center of the hall to the balcony, and the stage was banked with potted greenery and other decorations. The exhibition and sales tables were arranged around the walls of the hall and each was piled high with the goods which were on sale. In the center of the floor are located the spinning wheels, looms, work benches and other tools which are to be used by the blind in demonstrating their method of manufacturing of the various articles. One feature of the sale is the fact that every piece of goods on sale is handmade, or made on machines, operated by hand.

Rug Exhibit Feature

Two kinds of rugs are on exhibition. Middlesex rugs made by a blind gentleman by that name in his home in Boston, and Cambridge rugs, made in the workshop of the blind in Cambridge. The patterns in these rugs run from those taking after the style of the Turkish to the Wilton rug pattern. Each one is perfect, the colors are drawn exactly by the blind after the pattern and each one is finished in a beautiful manner. Knitted and crocheted articles of every kind and description, the work of blind women and girls, are also on exhibition. One small table is given over to the sale of books by Clarence Hawks, a blind author. One of these is an exceptional interest as it is nothing more or less than an autobiography of the author. "Hitting the Dark Trail," is the name of this book and in it the author tells of the experiences of being blind and how it affects his work. Another table is given over to the sale of art fabrics. This is an exhibition of work that is marvelous in its beauty and finish. The various articles were all woven by the blind, and the embroidery, of the finest of fine material, was all done by women and girls who could not see the pattern they were to follow. The household table is another exhibition of what can be done by the blind after they receive proper education, and the exhibition of mops, brooms, baskets, and other miscellaneous articles complete the material on show and sale.

Tea Room in Hall

A tea room has been arranged in the front of the hall at the stage and at this table the tired shopper may rest and enjoy a light lunch and tea served by kindly misses from the State Normal School.

It is expected and hoped that Mr. Robert I. Bramhall, director of the board of education for the blind, will be present at the exhibition either today or tomorrow, but up to the present time the committee in charge has not had definite word from him as to whether he will be present or not.

Admission to the hall is free to all and it is hoped that the hall will be crowded this evening and from 10 a. m. to 11 p. m. tomorrow, the hours of the show. The educational value of the exhibition cannot be over-estimated and the money received from the sales goes to the maker of the goods sold and to no one else. If persons who plan on purchasing articles will remember that the goods are all handmade, then they will easily appreciate the difference in price between the goods on exhibition and machine-made goods.

An exhibition of cabinet making will be given during the show by one of the blind workers from Cambridge. The work table for this exhibition has been loaned to the committee by the Varnum school. Miss Mary McCalley of North Andover, a blind girl, will give a demonstration in stitching on an ordinary sewing machine, and Miss Helen Ladd, of Boston, will show how the wool is spun that is used for weaving the household articles.

There will also be a demonstration of weaving on a hand-loom and of broom making by workmen from the various shops for the blind.

Workshop for Blind in Lowell

The purpose of the exhibit is to prove, by an educational campaign, that it is opportunity and not charity that blind people want, and to show what the state is doing for those who have been deprived of their sight. One of the state supervised workshops for the blind is located in Lowell. Ten men work in this shop, making brooms, repairing chairs and other like work. Henry Burke is in charge of this shop and has been for the past 15 years. Under his direction the shop has grown and the workers have become able to support themselves.

Edward Conney is general chairman of the affair and Edward Gallagher is chairman of publicity. The Rotary club furnished all of the decorations and are also planning on visiting the hall in a body today.

The tables and those in charge are as follows: Tea room, in charge of Normal school girls under the direction of Miss Eleanor Sutton today, and in charge of the D.A.R. tomorrow; hospitality committee for the blind visitors is composed of members of the Middlesex Women's club; the sales committee is headed by Miss Anna Devine and Mrs. Hawley; the Middlesex rug table, Y.M.C.A. auxiliary, Miss Ella Penn, chairman; knitted and crocheted goods, Y.W.C.A., Mrs. Walter Mussey, chairman; art fabric tables, Middlesex Women's club, Mrs. Otis Humphrey, chairman; and the Ladies Aid society, Mrs. Carmichael, chairman; household goods tables, League of Catholic Women, Mrs. Alice Saunders, chairman, and the Middlesex Women's club; book table, Teachers' association, Miss Caroline Downey, chairman; teas and coffee, American Legion, Horatius Leggat, chairman; basket tables, Girls' City club, Miss Helen Ryan, chairman; Lowell Guild, Mrs. Owens, chairman; broom table, Notre Dame alumnae, Miss Anna Devine, chairman; Cambridge rug table, College club, and mop table, Educational club, Mrs. Elizabeth Leggat, chairman.

A musical program will be given this afternoon and tomorrow afternoon and evening by Mr. Anthony Martone, accompanied by Joseph Marshall. Both of these men are graduates of the Perkins Institute.

Seek New Sources of Rubber Supply

WASHINGTON, April 24.—Harry W. Whitford, professor of tropical forestry at Yale university, has been named by Secretary Hoover to take charge of the federal investigation into possible new sources of rubber supply, authorized by the last congress. He will explore the possibilities of cultivation in the Philippines, South America and other tropical areas not now utilized for the purpose.

More Changes Among Naval Officers

NEW LONDON, Conn., April 24. Captain Frank D. Berrien, who has been in command of the submarine base here for the past three years, is to be transferred in September to duty in the Philippines. Captain Ernest King, who has command of the 11th Division of submarines of the Atlantic fleet, will succeed Captain Berrien. Captain King's successor in the fleet, will be Commander Crast, who is now at the naval war college, Newport, R. I.

Sacco Removed to Bridgewater

BRIDGEWATER, April 24.—Nicola Sacco, convicted with Bartolomeo Vanzetti of a double murder and under treatment at the Boston Psychopathic hospital since his one month hunger strike at the Dedham jail, was removed today to the state hospital for the criminal insane, at Bridgewater. Judge Webster Thayer of the superior court, ordered him committed to Bridgewater for observation as to his mental condition until further order from the court after hearings last week at which alienists testified that he was suffering from mental disorder. Petitions for a new trial for the two men, who have never been sentenced, are pending. Vanzetti is in the state prison serving a term for another offense.

Commissioner Takes Over City Bank

YORK, Pa., April 24.—The state banking commissioner today took over and closed the City Bank, one of York's largest financial institutions. Examiners reported to the banking commissioner at Harrisburg today, that they had found indications of a shortage of $800,000.

Just Another Story About the Goodness of PE-RU-NA

Mrs. Anna Linder, R. F. D. No. 1, Box 44, Dassel, Meeker County, Minn., writes: "For two years I suffered with that terrible disease, chronic catarrh. Fortunately I saw your advertisement and took Pe-ru-na. Now I am well and the mother of two children. I owe it all to Pe-ru-na. I would not be without that great remedy for twice its cost, for I am well and strong now. I cannot speak in too high terms of its value as a medicine."

For more than half a century Dr. Hartman's Pe-ru-na has been performing just such wonderwork as this.

Unless you grow hair. The Van Ess 2-bottle treatment is absolutely guaranteed. You are the sole judge. The warrant is signed by your own druggist. All we require is his signature showing you have purchased a sixty-day treatment. If it fails, he refund your money. Hence you assume no risk making this test.

No Hair—No Money is our proposition

We have a new method of treating the scalp. It grows hair. It stops falling hair. Under actual recorded tests it grew hair on 91 heads in each hundred treated.

This is to offer it to you. Results are guaranteed. If we fail, it costs you nothing. Your own druggist signs the guarantee—we assume the risk.

The name is the Van Ess Liquid Scalp Massage.

Infected Sebum
According to authorities, over 90% of all hair troubles are traced to infected sebum. Sebum is an oil. It forms the roots of hair. The natural function is to supply the hair with oil.

But frequently it becomes infected. It clogs on the scalp. It plugs the follicles and chokes them. It forms a breeding place for bacteria—germs by the millions feed upon the hair and destroy it. It invites acid-bacteria. From total baldness follows. But it seldom kills the hair root. Remove the infected

Now Science Overcomes It
The Van Ess treatment combats the infected sebum and removes it. It penetrates to the follicles of the hair. It revives dormant hair roots and generally grows new hair.

We urge you to try it. Obtain it at your druggist's under a 60-day treatment plan. Your money returned if results are not obtained.

POLITICAL BREAKERS AHEAD

From this time forward there will be much speculation as to political candidates and platform issues for the next national election. One of the most unusual phases of our political situation is that in which Lord Cecil is touring the country appealing to the masses in favor of having the United States join the League of Nations. It is as if we sent a prominent statesman over to England to preach prohibition despite the fact that it has been turned down by the house of commons and by the people. We do not think he would be heard with as much tolerance as Lord Cecil is being to here when he preaches the League of Nations, knowing that in the last national election, it was rejected by a sweeping majority. Lord Cecil evidently expects to see a change in sentiment; and he is doing all he can to bring it about.

Meanwhile, we fail to notice any indication of a swing back to the league by either party. The republicans will probably cling to the international court of justice and the democratic party will hardly dare take up the league issue again.

There are other issues of a local character that demand attention. They will include the great transportation problem which at present is puzzling the statesmen of the country more than any other single issue. Much will depend upon the candidates who will come to the front as the time for the election approaches. The names at present heard in this connection are those of McAdoo, ex-Governor Cox of Ohio, Governor Smith of New York, Senator Robinson of Indiana and Henry Ford. There will be a clear line of demarcation between the "wets" and the "drys," although few expect any change in the law except perhaps some modification of the Volstead act so as slightly to increase the alcoholic content. The various radical blocs will have to be dealt with and to ensure in foreign entanglements while they are clamoring for reforms at home would be fatal. Both parties, it would seem, will have to confine themselves to home issues and let the foreign go with the usual declaration of a non-committal policy of sympathy with the European powers in their efforts to get back to "normalcy."

NATIONAL BANK TAX

Attorney General Jay R. Benton hopes to save the state of Massachusetts more than $7,000,000 if the legislature follows the recommendations he has just submitted to Speaker B. Loring Young at the request of the house of representatives.

Under a decision of the United States supreme court, Massachusetts is liable for the return of about $7,000,000 paid in taxes by national bank stockholders, unless the legislature enacts measures to exempt and confirm taxes levied upon these stockholders to the extent that they exceed the amount permitted by federal laws prior to an amendment of the federal statutes, which the supreme court has held did not give the states authority to tax national bank stock.

The attorney-general's recommendation comes in an opinion submitted at the request of the house that he explain the present status of the litigation involving validity of the national bank tax and the legislation now pending in congress.

Lowell national banks have been and still are greatly interested in the outcome of this "robate" question. They have all along claimed that the former tax rates levied on national banking institutions exceeded the legal federal requirements and the supreme court upheld that contention. It will be interesting to see whether or not the actions of Massachusetts will now see fit to decide that, at decision and move to prevent the national banks from receiving the tax rebates apparently due them beyond all legal question or doubt.

The matter has been discussed with much interest in local banking circles for many months. Not long ago The Sun published a story with interviews, covering the claims of the national banking institutions of this city which are now indirectly endorsed by the supreme court in its recent decision.

PULPIT BOLSHEVISTS

It is becoming an old story to get up and defend the actions of the soviet government of Russia in executing high, church officials merely for avowing their adherence to their faith and protesting against the plunder of their churches. Yet we find that religious mountebanks, Rev. Dr. Grant of New York, coming out strongly in defense of the soviet regime in executing Vice-Admiral Butskovich. As might be expected, three other clergymen echo Dr. Grant's views, evidently wishing to show sympathy with the radical elements of New York and other parts of the country.

Nowhere is bolshevism more dangerous than in the church pulpits. If these clergymen had a spark of American patriotism in their make-up, they would surely feel ashamed of themselves on reading that the official soviet agency, entrusted with the overthrow of the established churches in Russia, is to be known as the Commission for Combating Religion. It is directed by Professor Stepanoff and five radical atheists, none of whom is recognized as being awayed by any principle of right or justice. They have, under their control, a press organ called the "Atheist" which is subsidized by the government and they are occupied in delivering crude and wild anti-religious lectures throughout the country, at workmen's clubs, elementary schools and communist associations. In this work, they are assisted by the minister of health, Trotsky does not belong to the commission for combating religion for the reason that he considers all religions beneath his contempt.

Here then is what the New York clergymen are defending when they try to condemn as traitors the brave churchmen who suffered martyrdom for upholding the cause of religion, justice and humanity, as against atheism plus plunder and the official policies calculated to overthrow civilization and reduce the people to a state of savagism rarely equalled in the most uncivilized lands.

HOW LONG WILL IT LAST?

How long will the present business boom or wave of prosperity last? The Commerce and Finance magazine put this question to 3000 leading business men all over the country. Until the last half of 1923, was the answer of 1140. Some time in 1924, predicted 550. Two years or more, said 427. It is an interesting straw vote. But they may all be wrong. Not one business man in 500 anticipated the 1923 crash far enough ahead to get into the cyclone cellar and the lid down before the storm burst.

Of the 5000, by the way, 2250 predicted a buyers' strike if prices continue to advance. If business thinks it can recoup all of its losses, incurred in the last panic, it is riding for a fall. If the speculators carry operations too far, they will cause inflation that will result in a climax and many failures. Moreover, unless our exports dispose of our surplus of manufactured goods, our storehouses will be filled and then will come curtailment of production. That would soon put an end to our prosperity. That and the speculative craze are two of our greatest industrial dangers. Industrial peace, of course, is another essential to the maintenance of our prosperity. Thus many factors enter into the probability; but for each individual and each business concern the best plan is to continue active work and make the most of every opportunity.

NO JITNEYS WANTED

The New Hampshire public service commission has just granted the Massachusetts Northeastern Street Railway company permission to discontinue its line from Pelham Centre in New Hampshire to Meadow Brook in this city.

Will jitneys come later on? Possibly. The recent enactment of statutes by our state legislature, allowing street railway corporations in certain instances to apply for franchises to run jitney lines, has not proved effective for at least one large corporation—the familiar Massachusetts Eastern. The attempt of this corporation only a few weeks ago to obtain auto bus franchises in one of the Bay State shore cities in which street car lines have been abandoned, was turned down unanimously, the people of the "abandoned town" refusing to let the Eastern corporation return in any way whatsoever as purveyors of public transit facilities.

ACTIVE COTTON SPINDLES

From the department of commerce at Washington is sent out figures showing the number of cotton spinning spindles in place in the various states on April 1. States in the cotton belt had 16,393,713; all others 29,935,557. Of the latter, Massachusetts had 11,952,861 with 10,925,353 active. An interesting calculation is given on the inactive spindles hours for March and the average number of hours per spindle in place by states for that month, which is as follows: Alabama, 214; Arkansas, 219; California, 234; Georgia, 327; Mississippi, 197; New Hampshire, 127; Rhode Island, 235; Connecticut, 227. These figures give an indication of the comparative length of the working day in the states mentioned.

The Interstate Commerce commission is restrained by a permanent injunction. That commission is one of the most obstinate in existence. It is responsible for some of the worst defects of our transportation system, including the discrimination against New England.

When various parties are clamoring that the Boston and Maine railroad is about to be absorbed, it increases hopes for 4000 employees and keeps right on giving the usually poor service.

Well parents ever learn to teach their young children not to cross streets where autos are in sight? If they did this, the number of children killed by autos would be greatly reduced.

The people of Lowell are beginning to inquire once more when they are likely to get a decision in our favor so that it will not be necessary to cross the city at night, or to ride but a few blocks on either side of Kearney square.

President Harding will have a hard time of it on his coming tour he attempts to defend the record of the present congress.

Those who felt that because "Easter Day" is popular in England, the country would fall for prohibition, forget that prohibition is not intoxicating.

A Thought

Wherever there is authority there is a natural inclination to disobedience. —Hollburton.

Black Magic

The story has just leaked out of a local colored fellow who paid a dollar during the Elk carnival to have his fortune told. The lady told him that he loved chicken, that he won some money on craps and that he had been in jail. The fellow gasped and said: "Mah goodness, lady, you has told me my 'most thoughts'." —Pratt (Kan.) Republican.

"Come, Hero Mine"

The war profiteer was enjoying a seat in a crowded street car when the remnants of a doughboy hobbled in and took his stand in the aisle. Realizing that the occasion called for some display of courtesy, the seated gentleman reached out, buttonholed the fellow and whispered: "Stick around, old fellow. I'll be getting off in seven more blocks." —American Legion Weekly.

Was Glad to See Her

A naval officer entered a big store with his wife, and elected to stay near the passenger elevator while she made a few purchases at the counters. She was away a long time, and when eventually she did get back, he said, mopping his heated brow: "Dash, Mary, 'twas 'bout your return." "What's the matter, dear?" she asked. "Matter," and again he wiped his forehead with his handkerchief. "Why, exactly do people have asked me to run them up in the elevator."

The Quick Thinker

Educational sharpers claim that college life makes a man more alert mentally. The proposition is that you don't go to college to absorb a mass of general information—you go there to learn to think. A couple of magazines were having an argument about it. To end it, one of them sent the other editor a letter. "What's the matter, dear?" she asked. "Matter," and again he wiped his forehead with his handkerchief. "Why, exactly do people have asked me to run them up in the elevator."

Next Train for India

Miss Gertrude Emerson, the writer, who has just returned to England from a two years' study of the people of India, said recently: "There is no woman question in India. Indian women are as blind to their privileges as the girl who married the barber. 'So you married the barber?' said the former mistress said to her, 'Yes, I've married the barber,' said the girl complacently. 'Humph, and you gave him that $200 you had saved up, didn't you?' 'Yes, I gave him that $200,' 'Humph, where is he now?' 'He's off spending the $200 on his honeymoon, mum.'"

Knew His Wish

They had had chicken for dinner in a restaurant. "You see," he explained, as he showed her the wishbone, "you take hold here. Then we both make a wish and pull, and when it breaks the one who has the biggest part of it will have his or her wish granted." "But I don't know what to wish for," she protested. "O, you can think of something," he said. "No, I can't," she replied. "I can't think of anything I want much." "Well, I'll wish for you," he exclaimed. "Will you really?" she asked. "Yes, indeed," he replied. "Well, now is as good a time as any to wish. 'You can have me!'" —Minneapolis Tribune.

It Made a Difference

Covington entered the hotel barber shop and stepped into a chair. "Good morning, stranger," the barber greeted him. "Good morning," Covington replied. "But, really, I am not quite a stranger. I thought you fellows made it a point to remember people." "We do," Patsy confessed, in some embarrassment. "Well, you shaved me in this very chair a little less than three weeks ago," Covington explained. "Well, I'll have to confess that I don't remember you face," he don't suppose I could expect you to," Covington admitted. "It had practically faded up now."

His Year Head

Why does a person "knock wood" whenever he does not want his luck to desert him? It is believed to originate with an old Danish myth. According to the legend, an old Danish sea captain, just before starting on a voyage, would always stand on the side of his ship, and then stand in silence and listen for a few minutes. His belief was that as he listened so many millions of tiny spirits, the "year heads" of the ship, the crew of the wood would come out and bless the ship and insure it a safe return. Other Danish ship-pers followed this practice, and, strangely enough, at least as we are told, the vessels submitted to this ancient ritual seemed to acquire immunity from the perils of the sea. As a result, the superstition became a custom which has lived to the present time. —London Answer.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

The exhibit of the blind at Liberty hall today and tomorrow is a marvelous exhibit of what men and women can do, even though they have lost one of their senses. If they are properly trained. The handicraft of these workers proves conclusively that they are well fitted to support themselves and that the money spent by the state in their education is money well spent. Every person in Lowell should attend the exhibition if only to see what can be accomplished by the co-ordination of the senses left to make up for the sense that is gone. It is often said that a deaf person can see more clearly, taste more keenly and that all his other senses work better because of his deafness. The same applies to the blind. They cannot see but their other perceptive faculties are more finely trained than those of the ordinary human. As the representative of the state department for the blind said, "We want you to remember that although these blind have lost one of their senses they are still human beings and should be treated as such."

The day may come when American gluttons will eat hawk beetle, gypsy moth, white pine sawfly and other choice insects, predicts a new bulletin of the N. Y. State College of Forestry. It would help solve the problem of insect pests, which yearly destroy 100 million dollars worth of forests and seven times as much farm products. Impossible, an insect diet. Not necessarily. The college suggests: "I would only be necessary to have some movie star serve an insect luncheon, or for a member of the '40s' to give an insect symposium, to place insects in black-faced type on our bills-of-fare. . . . Not far from the truth, at that."

The male feminists who wear tuxedos and trousers with girdles of bright sashes are eclipsed by the "Kibbo," youths who actually wear earrings. This zoological curiosity is reported as parading itself in Boise, Idaho. Get that? What a fine target the earrings would have made for Wild Bill Hickok, Shotgun Dowling, Ed Masterson, Blithe the Kid and other celebrities of frontier days! Most of the old-timers wore their hair long, but that was to show Indians they weren't afraid of being scalped. A clipped head wasn't worth scalping and was resorted to only by cowards.

It is highly probable that auto-touring parties will be more numerous during the coming summer than ever before. Many auto owners have arranged for camping parties and making outfits so that they can make a trip across the country from ocean to ocean without resorting to hotels for lodging. They will probably patronize the restaurants of the cities through which they pass and sleep in the open after the kypsy style. The hotel keepers of the country are opposed to the growth of this practice; but they do not seem to be able to check it. Some cities have provided camping areas for such parties to spend the night. This is an accommodation which does not seem to offer any return to the cities for the expenditure incurred beyond having the camping parties visit their hotels or restaurants as a matter of necessity.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Case of Germany

Fall River News:—It is this consciousness of their failure to involve London or Washington that is bringing them to abandon their policy of passive obstruction of the Franco-Belgian recovery. Germany, indeed, has the most with the commission and refused wood and coal deliveries needlessly. She had the money and supplies with which to pay. But with that fatal miscalculation of her own interest and her own weakness which has characterized her policy since the armistice, she has allowed her obligations to accumulate instead of meeting them as she could have done. She has gone on printing paper marks. She has an inconceivable volume of paper promises to pay which can never be redeemed. Germany's floating debt on April 10 was seventy-two thousand billion marks. That had increased by 602,000,000,000 marks between April 1 and April 10. Who could see in such inflation anything else but repudiation?

Fewer Blind

Manchester Mirror:—Remarkable progress in decreasing the number of cases of blindness traced to preventable cause is disclosed by the United States bureau of census, which states that the number was reduced over five thousand in the ten year period preceding 1920. The national commission for the prevention of blindness, whose work has been largely instrumental in conserving sight, attributed the gain to an increased knowledge of the care of the eyes and campaigns designed to reduce eye hazards in industrial establishments.

In spite of the achievements of the committee for the prevention of blindness there are in the United States today about fifty-two thousand persons who are blind. Of this number, some twenty-five per cent were without sight at birth, and six per cent lost their vision from hereditary causes. The greater part of the remainder became blind through accident, or by neglecting incipient ophthalmia when prompt and skilled treatment might have saved them.

Massachusetts was the first state to appoint a commission on blindness, and since 1904, when the step was taken, twelve other states have fallen in line. The commission, working in conjunction with the National Committee for the Prevention of Blindness, are fast spreading the doctrine of more care for the eyes and striving for a reduction of eye hazards in factories and other industrial plants. Much work is being done among school children. The day may come when only those who never saw the light of day, will be blind.

A large contingent of Lawrence K. of C. members were entertained by the local knights in the clubhouse in Dutch street last night. The down-river Casey's began to arrive about 7 o'clock for their scheduled tournament with the best in Lowell council, and a very enjoyable schedule of games, including whist, pitch, pool, bowling, billiards, four-fives and others, was carried out under the direction of Grand Master John E. Hart, assisted by John V. Donohue, George F. Briggs, Michael P. Maloney, Dr. James F. Gaffney and James J. Molloy.

At the conclusion of the various games, all repaired to the beautiful assembly hall where a buffet luncheon was served and local talent entertained with solo numbers and dances. William Dolan, financial secretary, was in charge of the group from Lawrence.

DOWNTOWN TRAFFIC PROBLEMS DISCUSSED

Downtown traffic problems were discussed last night at a meeting of the city planning board held at city hall and it was voted to have the secretary obtain figures relative to a preliminary survey of the business section in an effort to ascertain just what might be accomplished in the matter of relief.

All members of the board were present, including the ex-officio members, with the exception of Dennis J. Murphy of the public service board. Chairman Patrick O'Brien presided. In a communication to the board the chamber of commerce offered to pay the expenses of a board member to the convention of city planning boards to be held in Baltimore this month and the first three days of May and it was the wish of the board that Chairman O'Brien represent the body, and it was so voted.

A report of progress was accepted from Clarence M. Weed and Benjamin S. Pouzner, named at a previous meeting to consider.

A special town meeting for the voters of Chelmsford will be held in the town hall, Centra village, next Monday night. The warrant, which has been passed, contains 20 articles, calling for appropriations totalling about $15,000. Among them items is one for $500 for the purchase of a new school building, and one for $2000 for coal for the school department. An extra $2000 is being asked for the maintenance of ways because of the great amount of snow during the winter. The police department is requesting $2000 for street improvements in that locality.

SAVOR OF SALT

Oh, the breeze blows salt from the ocean reaches
Where the graybacks roll and the gray gulls screeches,
And it's I would sail the salt seas over,
A deep-sea sail and an ocean rover.

It's I would hear the faint stays singing
And watch the stars, from the windor swinging,
With salt spray flying, the salt wind shrieking,
The white wake boiling, the steel plates creaking!

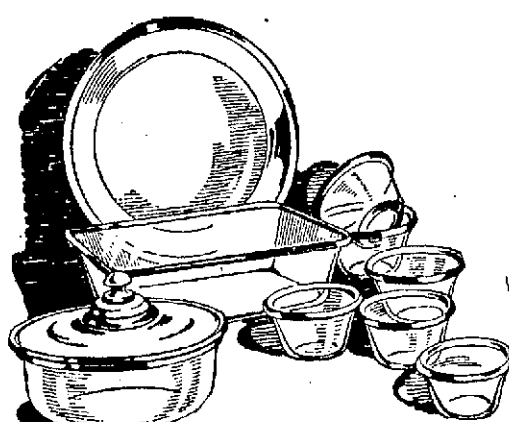

Where shall we go for our honeymooning?
Not where the soft land-breeze is crooning,
But out at sea, out at sea together,
Salt sea-lovers in the salt sea weather.

For it's you that know how the great deep calls you
And that have no fear of what fate befalls you,
So well walk the decks where the salt spume hisses,
With the smack of salt in our care-free kisses,
Where shall we go for our honeymooning?

This affair is yearly looked forward to by the many friends of the Lowell assembly and it presents plans can be taken as a criterion, this year's event promises to surpass any of previous seasons. Mr. O'Neill is chairman of a competent dance committee which has worked untiringly for the success of the first attempt at conducting the dancant in the new rooms. Bishop Delany's orchestra will furnish the music for the general dancing which will continue from 8 o'clock until midnight.

HAITOWITSCH CONCERT THIS EVENING

Abraham Haitowitsch, the noted violin virtuoso who has been blind since the age of two, will give a concert of music for music lovers in the Memorial Auditorium this evening. Haitowitsch's work has won him such renown in other cities that the name alone should draw a large attendance, but in addition to hearing him, those who attend will be aiding the cause of the blind whose goods are on exhibition and sale in Liberty hall today and tomorrow for part of the proceeds of his concert will go to this good cause. The program arranged for tonight's recital is as follows:

Sonata for piano and violin by Hartini; Symphonie Espagnole by Lalo; Hymn to the Sun (Coe d'Or) by Rimsky-Korsakow - Kreizler; Indian Snake Dance by Rurikigh; Hebrew melody by Achron; Perpetuum mobile by Beethoven; Ave Maria by Schubert-Wilhelm; and Caprice No. 24 by Paganini-Auer. Henry Levine will be at the piano.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE ESSAY CONTEST

Below is Master William McMorro's answer to the question of the chamber of commerce essay contest. "How Can We Make Our Streets Safe For School Children?" Master McMorro is a student at the Edison grammar school and was awarded a gold medal by the chamber of commerce for his essay.

"The city of Lowell, like some other cities, has an instructor in safety whose duty it is to visit the various schools to teach the children the best methods of safety on the streets and crossings. These instructions, however, are too often unheeded.

"Detroit, one of the leading cities of the United States, has a special school for instruction in safety. In this school the older boys are taught the exact ways of a policeman to take care of the younger boys. The older boys are held responsible for the safety of the younger boys while coming from and going to school. Safety rules are posted and must be obeyed by all school children. To disobey any of these rules means a small fine for punishment.

"Other ways in which to insure safety would be, to have special officers in different districts to take care of the school children at busy corners, streets and squares.

"There should be stricter laws and heavier fines for all careless or speedy drivers of all kinds of vehicles. "All school children should be warned of the danger of riding on the back of heavy trucks, clinging to spare tires on automobiles, and most particularly the extremely dangerous act of riding on the back of a loaded ice cart. If the school children do not heed these warnings they should be punished.

"More signs should be placed near the different schools of the city with the reading, 'Drive Slowly School Here,' cautioning the driver to be careful while near the school.

"Every school child should be obliged to learn by heart the following rule for crossing the street, 'Stand on the sidewalk and look to the left first, then to the right, then cross to the opposite sidewalk.'

"All crosswalks at public squares, corners, dangerous crossings and in the school districts should be marked off into what would be known as a safety zone for pedestrians. Younger children should be taught not to run across the street or play in the street. "If the preceding rules were followed by the school children of the city of Lowell, I feel that there would be less carelessness and a smaller number of accidents."

BOSTON SYMPHONY ENSEMBLE TOMORROW

The Boston Symphony Ensemble returns to Lowell tomorrow, April 25, to give its postponed concert at the Memorial Auditorium. This is the last concert of the Messiaen-Greedy Parker winter series and is likely to draw the largest crowd of the series.

The ensemble is composed of 25 members of the Boston Symphony orchestra and is under the leadership of Augustus Vannini. On their first appearance here, last fall, they met with decided success and many have looked forward to their second coming with great pleasure.

The program arranged for this concert is even more popular than the first, introducing several numbers that are very well known. The opening number is the overture to "Therese," by von Weber. This number has been played by symphony orchestras for over 100 years and has always remained one of the most popular in an orchestra's repertoire. The second piece is "Drink to me only with thine eyes," an old English lyric. This piece introduces the four families in the orchestra, the string choir, the woodwinds, the brasses, and the ensemble.

The third number is the large form of Beethoven's "New World Symphony." This piece was written as a memorial to the writer's visit to this country. The fourth number is from Debussy's ballet, "Coppelia." The fifth and seventh numbers are from Wagner's "Lohengrin," the prelude and the introduction to act three, while in the seventh number, as a half section, is given a suite for strings alone, Gile's "Babilonia." The sixth number is Chalkovsky's "Allegretto Con Grazia," and is typical of the Russian. The last is a Spanish suite, "La Feria," by Lavigne.

MILLIONS ARE NEAR THE BRINK OF RUIN AND DON'T KNOW IT, HE SAYS

Lowell Has a Vast Multitude on Physical and Mental Brink of Ruin—What Is Being Done to Bring Relief to Sufferers—Many Men and Women Give Their Testimony.

A Special Representative From the Dreo Laboratory Has Headquarters at Green's Drug Store. Call to See Him. Free Samples Given.

Mrs. Sallie King Wants the World to Know How She Was Quickly Relieved of Stomach Trouble—John Bassinger Says: "Your Grand Medicine Has Made Me Well and Strong Again."

"IT WORKED WONDERS—NEIGHBORHOOD SURPRISED"

"Physically and mentally on the brink of ruin, there are few sufferers who would not give anything they possess to live their lives over again in health and strength," declares a well known authority on health and hygiene in a recent interview.

This place is full of half-sick people. Those who have good health should appreciate it—the others did not, and there is not one of them but in common sense would warn you against the dangers of neglect.

It is mostly stomach trouble that is making this a place full of sick people. Stomach trouble, its complications, and the many forms of kidney, liver, blood and bowel disorders that come mostly from stomach trouble.

Neglect of the first symptoms of stomach trouble brings more ill health and vicious diseases; the uneasy feeling after eating, gas belching, undigested food in the stomach, constipation, dizziness, spots before the eyes, shortness of breath, and many other little disorders may all be warning signals that something is wrong and will get worse unless attended to in time.

But there is good cheer and hope in the news that there has been introduced here a new root and herb medicine that is being pronounced a boon to all sufferers from stomach neglect. This wonderful natural medicine is called Dreo and is now being distributed at Green's Drug Store, 2 Merrimack street.

No matter how slight of long standing the case may be, no matter what kidney, liver, rheumatic or catarrhal complications may have set in, Dreo is promised to pave the way for quick recovery and return to health, strength and happiness.

Life Was a Constant Misery

"Life was a constant misery on account of stomach trouble, headaches and constipation," said Mr. Robert L. Cross, of 30 Askin street, Uniontown, Pa., in a signed statement. "I suffered terribly, pains in my side, and the muscles in my back seemed drawn up. My liver was sluggish and spots floated before my eyes; I feel that every one should know about this wonderful medicine Dreo, which has relieved all my troubles."

Gained 11 Pounds in Two Weeks

Mr. C. W. Miles, for 12 years with the Republic Rubber Co., of Youngstown, Ohio, says: "As long as I needed the money, I wouldn't take $1000 for what Dreo has done for me. My back ached so bad it felt like some one was jabbing a knife into me; I couldn't sleep for the awful pains I had. If anyone had slapped me on the back I would have fainted, but tonight I am a well and strong man again and owe it all to Dreo. It's wonderful what Dreo has done. There was a time I couldn't sit at all but now I sleep soundly. I don't hear the whistle blow in the morning. Why I gained 11 pounds in two weeks and I want to tell everyone about this wonderful medicine."

Dreo Within the Reach of All

These are just a few cases selected at random from the mass of signed testimonials received from scores of men and women in all walks of life. Who is there can doubt the plain, straightforward statements of those people?

Dreo is not an expensive medicine. It is easy to get, easy to take and remarkably quick in its action.

Couldn't Finish Day's Work

Mrs. Jacob Maurer, of Route 7, of Greensburg, Pa., says: "Before taking Dreo I had aching pains in my back and arms. I couldn't finish a day's work but would have to give up and sit down. I had dizzy spells and my bowels were constipated. I became so nervous I could not sleep well and my appetite failed. Dreo has changed all this and I'm feeling fine, gained five pounds and am now giving Dreo to my 9-year-old son."

(Copyright 1922 by David H. Fulton & Bros., Baltimore).

Go today to Green's Drug Store, 2 Merrimack street, ask for Mr. Trebbel, the well known Green's Expert, and he will personally explain the merits of this great remedy. There is no charge and he will tell you if he believes Dreo will benefit you. Adv.

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, April 24.—Short covering continued at the outset of today's dealings in the stock market, prices of the usual leaders opening at slightly higher levels. Activity was greatest in the domestic oil shares, and there was a continuance of the recent buying of the food issues, corn products starting one point higher, but Philippine Petroleum was only 3/8, despite the declaration of a 25 percent stock dividend and an extra cash dividend of one cent.

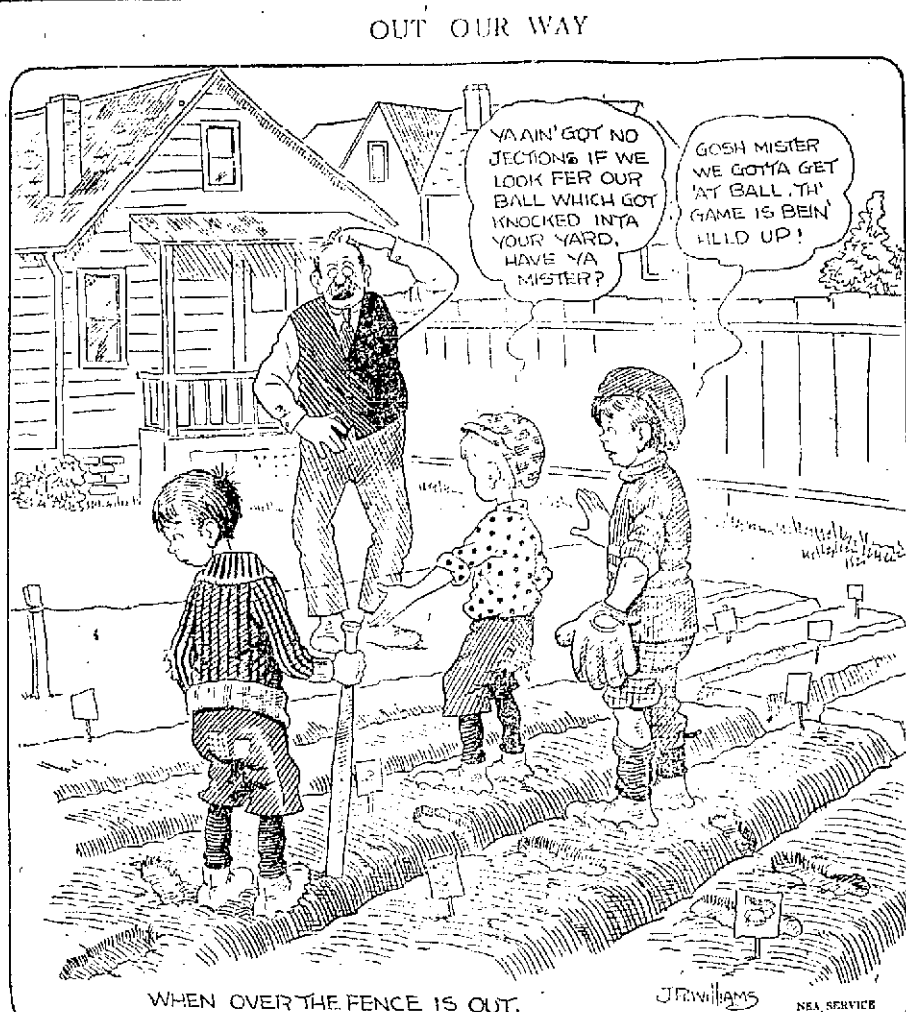

When the initial rise failed to bring on any of the stocks which were bought for speculative purposes in yesterday's market, traders became more confident as to the immediate course of prices and purchased quite liberally in all quarters of the market. Important strong features included metals, steel, merchandising, and independent steel shares. Colorado Fuel advanced 1/2 point, Gladding Brothers 1/2, and American Iron Works 1/2. The market was a sharp 2 1/2 in French francs which moved on 1/2 point to 20 cents. Demand continued strong on the domestic, being quoted at 15.50.

The market was firm, speculative sentiment was more noticeably displayed in the oil shares, oil shares moving up heavily under the leadership of standard oil of California, which advanced 2 1/2 points. American Oil and Iron Products also were conspicuously strong. Porto Rican Tobacco jumped 3 points.

ARCTIC EXPLORER COMING TABLETS AT AUDITORIUM

Donald B. MacMillan Will Tell Interesting Story of the Frozen North

Donald B. MacMillan, Arctic explorer who is leaving the United States on another journey of exploration of the frozen spaces, will speak at the Memorial Auditorium on the next Monday evening concerning his most recent journey to the north. This will be one of his last lectures before jumping off on his next trip.

"In Unknown Regions" is the title of Mr. MacMillan's lecture. It is the story of what he did and what he saw during his seventh winter in the north, from which he returned in September, 1922. On this trip his ship sailed over 3,000 miles of water previously unexplored by man. Many pictures, still and moving, of Eskimo life, and the wild life of the country will be taken. Mr. MacMillan is favorably remembered wherever he has spoken for his clearness of speech and ability to make his subject most interesting to his audience.

"In Unknown Regions" will appeal to all, whether one is a student of a school, or a "hard-boiled" expert on the subject of the Arctic. Mr. MacMillan was born in Providence, R. I., November 16, 1874, and graduated from the University of Chicago in 1896. He taught school in Maine for several years and then went to take up a similar position in Wisconsin. His first voyage of exploration was with Peary's expedition to the North Pole in 1905 and 1906. In 1909 he crossed Labrador and explored its coast. In 1911 he sailed to the North Pole in a small ship. In 1912 he made the trip from Boston to Hebron, North Labrador, in a 25-foot boat, becoming the first man to have been in the Arctic region. He has been investigating the northland, exploring vast spaces where man had never before trod and making for scientific and educational purposes the life of the Eskimo of that barren land. In addition to the A. I. degree which he received on being graduated from college, he has received an honorary degree of A. M. and Sc. D. from Bowdoin College. He is a member of the Royal Geographical Society and the American Geographical Society. He is a lecturer and makes it part of his duty to visit the Rotarians in all the cities he visits.

Trustees Will Name Committee to Report on Position of Tablets

A committee to consist of two representatives of the G. A. R., two representatives of the Spanish War Veterans, two representatives of the American Legion, one Gold Star mother, one Gold Star father, one Gold Star widow and one representative each from the Lowell Historical Society, Chamber of Commerce, Lowell Art Association, Daughters of the American Revolution, Mothers' Club, U. S. W. V. and American Legion post, to make a careful study of the Auditorium and to report to the trustees their recommendations relative to the placing of all tablets, memorial and otherwise, which are to go in the building.

The decision was reached and accepted by formal vote at a meeting of the trustees held last night, attended by an American Legion committee. Trustee Thomas P. Houlter was presented by Hines from being present.

In detail this committee will have the following recommendations to make with the trustees after giving the entire matter most careful consideration:

A—The number, design and location of all tablets.

B—The order in which tablets shall be placed and estimates of probable costs of tablets.

C—To determine the best method of system of securing names and service records.

The committee, it will be seen, is given full authority to handle the question in all its phases and not only will concern itself with memorial tablets, but all plaques, as well, including the bronze plaque now in the trophy hall, bearing the names of the building commissioners, architects and builder, which the American Legion desires to have moved to some other part of the building.

The matter of selecting the Gold Star representatives on the committee will be left in the hands of the commander of Lowell post, American Legion.

It is expected this committee will begin its work just as soon as its personnel is announced and no time limit is set for its report.

NEW CANDIDATES FOR PARK COMMISSION

In addition to Clarence M. Weed, present chairman of the Lowell park commission, whose term expires on May 1, there are at least three candidates for this position. Mayor John J. Donovan said today. No salary goes with the appointment, which is for a term of five years. Mr. Weed has been a member of the commission for ten years and for some time served as its chairman.

The mayor did not care to say who the other candidates are for Mr.

Raymond M. Humphrey, the well known realtor, has sold in behalf of Patrick McDough, the splendid property at the corner of Walker street and Walker avenue. This consists of a building of seven seven-room flats with all modern conveniences, including steam heat, electric lights, etc. The building is located at 345 Walker street and 1-6 Walker avenue. The purchaser is Mrs. Eva Nichols, and the sale price is said to be in the vicinity of $2000.

A portion of the old Flynn estate, located in Concord st. and consisting of three stores and nine tenements, owned by George Reardon, has been sold to Abraham Pressman of Lawrence. The sale was effected through the office of T. H. Elliott, assisted by George Reardon, at a price of about $3000.

Three cottages were sold yesterday and today by Edward F. Slatery, Jr. They consist of a seven-room house at 1-2 corner Reedy, has been sold to Robert J. Dunn and which was sold to Robert J. Elliott, and sold to John Tavoraris and Nicholas Koumoutzias. The sale price in the last deal is said to be in the vicinity of $2500.

An eight-room cottage at 31 Saratoga street, owned by Henry G. Reardon, was sold to Joseph H. Macfarlane for about $1600. The eight-room cottage and one-car garage at 655 Broadway, owned by George Demers, has been sold to James and Julia A. Newton for about $2500.

The Michael Reardon have reported another sale, that of the three-tenement block and 5000 square feet of land at 14 Lily avenue. The sale was made to Narcisse Clement in behalf of Mrs. Caroline Gaudette. The price being $4500.

At the Normal School

planting the fact that as a teacher, nature has never been surpassed. To nature we must turn for the fullness of life and the joy of living. She is the tried and true director of our habits, he said, and it is only when we stray from the teachings of nature that man becomes discouraged and uncontented. Social, business, political and religious issues may confront us with such blinding force as to turn us away from the influence of nature and the beauty in life, but he declared that even then there would be a mysterious something in the heart of man which would draw him back to the proper basis of living if he would but respond to the call.

"Are you weary, down-hearted, saddened?"

Is there somewhere, something calling to you?

Go to the wildwood, fragrant, sun-glad, and Breathe inspiration—feel burdens falling.

Full every care is waited far away.

And you feel thankful you live this day.

In the wildwood, in the big, open wildwood, he continued, we come in contact with the untamished and forget the stress of business and social life. We cultivate a rare knowledge of beauty, sweetness and purity, which cannot be attained elsewhere, and upon our hearts there is impressed full evidence of the mightiness of the Great Creator.

In years past the naturalist declared, so little was understood regarding the value of our natural productions that little provision was made for the conservation of wild life, and as a result the so termed big game, many of the fur bearers, song birds and other life have been killed, the forests felled, flora destroyed, minerals taken from the earth all in such ignorance and greed that everything in nature has been wasted and abused.

And in this age we are continuously destroying many things in nature.

We should fully realize that everything in nature is for our pleasure and profit, and the naturalist pleaded that the boy and girl of the future will be able to sing it as sincerely as we can sing it today. Will there be any tempted birds to sing about in the future?

We do not need to bother our heads over Darwinian theories or what science may dig out of the earth in an attempt to tell us of our progress through past ages, for the things of the present and future are of far more importance.

Nature made America and nature sustains America, and if we destroy the productions of nature we are destroying our prosperity. For the future welfare of our nation we must protect the productions of the wildwood, and the power is that end is to live for the big out of doors. And the more our boys and girls know about nature and her wonders, the better will they know and love nature's God.

Naturalist Schure spoke before the general assembly in the Lowell High school last night, and at 10 o'clock he spoke at the Moody school following his address at the Normal school this afternoon. The naturalist lectured before the pupils of the Portland school.

Mr. Schure, who holds from Portland, has spoken at various institutions of learning here, including the Normal Academy.

Council to Take Final Action

It is expected the opinion will deal largely upon whether the city has the right to close these two public streets and the question of public convenience and necessity raised at both subsequent hearings by Attorney John M. O'Donoghue and William A. Hogan, representing remonstrants to the petition. Both these men asked the issue that no public convenience and necessity demands the streets be closed and without such a demand the city is powerless to act.

If the opinion of the solicitor is favorable to the petitioners or, in other words, states that the city has a right to close the streets in question, it is probable that the matter will be closed tonight. The question of liability for property damages may arise, in fact, it is probable that it will, for it has been advanced several times by opponents of the proposition.

At the last meeting of the council, at which the second public hearing was held and the definite plans of expansion outlined by representatives of the Sun-Lowell Co., Councilor Frank R. Stearns moved that a meeting be held tonight for the purpose of receiving the opinion from the city law department and final action on the company's petition.

Public service board loans in the amount of $100,000 will come before the council tonight for final action. If passed, it will allow the street department to begin its spring and summer program of work. One loan for $50,000 is for macadam paving, one for $50,000 is for sewer construction, another for $50,000 is for black paving and one for $10,000 is for the construction of new sidewalks.

In addition it is expected that an order for an appropriation of $1000 to defray expenses of the new planning board will be introduced for consideration.

It also is possible that some action will be taken in the order introduced at the last meeting by Councilor Frederick A. Sadler, providing for the transfer of $10,000 from general treasury to the police department for more regular patrolmen. This order was read at the last meeting, but no action followed.

An amendment to the zoning ordinance presented and sponsored by Councilor John W. Daly, also will be before the council for final disposition.

AN ALUMNI FEDERATION LOWELL DISTRICT COURT

Plan Alumni for All Schools Under Direction of Marist Brothers

A movement is on foot among the members of St. Joseph's college alumni of this city, for the formation of a federation of alumni of the various schools of New England, which are under the direction of the Marist brothers.

At present the Lowell and Lawrence schools of the Marist brothers have an alumni and plans are being made for the organization of similar societies among the former pupils of the Manchester, Haverhill and Northampton schools.

St. Joseph's college alumni of this city was organized over ten years ago and has been very prosperous. A few

Fines for Motor Vehicle Law Violators Total $100—Other Cases

Three convictions in the district court this morning for violations of the motor vehicle laws resulted in fines amounting $100. Raymond N. Hanson was fined $10 and given two weeks to pay because he refused to show his license to Officer Fanning when the latter requested him to do so. According to testimony offered by the officer, the defendant parked his machine in a forbidden area in Merrimack street between Dutton and Shattuck streets on Saturday evening, April 14. The officer said he placed a red tag on the vehicle requesting the owner to present himself at the police station, he then proceeded to direct traffic at the corner of Merrimack and Palmer streets and was in the midst of a tie-up when Hanson's machine again appeared on the scene. The officer signalled for the operator to stop, he said, but the driver kept on moving until he came within three inches of the spot where he was standing. He ordered him to back up but he had no sooner resumed his duties than he noticed the machine again parked within a distance of three feet of him. He then asked the operator for his license and the latter wanted to know what crime he had committed that he should be subjected to such treatment. He was told to produce the certificate then or go to the police station and do it. When the officer attempted to board the car, he was told that he could not do so, but finally was allowed to ride in the front seat with the driver.

Sgt. Atkinson told the court that the defendant came to him after the incident and told him that his reason for not stopping when the officer signalled was because his foot slipped off the clutch. He said he held his license in his hand but did not show it to the officer, because the officer did not come close and demand it. Riding in the back seat, he said the officer offered rough language, saying "birds" like him shouldn't be allowed licenses and he replied that "birds" like you shouldn't be allowed a uniform.

The court felt this case was a clear one of stubbornness on the part of the defendant and imposed the $10 fine, saying that automobiles are a menace nowadays and the officers must be instructed to rigidly enforce the law.

Rudolph Patsy was fined $10 for failure to stop his machine after the proper signal had been given by Officer Carl Callahan of the state constabulary. The officer stated that he stationed himself on the Lowell boulevard in December on April 15 and when he noticed defendant coming along at a high rate of speed, he blew his whistle three times and stood in the middle of the road with his hands stretched out as a signal to stop. Patsy, however, disregarded the warning, he said, and kept on going. Mounting his motorcycle, the officer finally overtook the speeding car and noticed that two male occupants in a rear seat were intoxicated and a woman in the front seat was waving her hands in the air, giving every appearance of being drunk. Patsy was not drunk, but was placed under arrest for not stopping his machine when signalled.

The third auto case concerned Carl G. Westberg, who was charged with driving without a license or registration and also with failure to have a light-light lighted. He was arrested by Sgt. Michael Wlan on Webster street on April 5. Westberg said he was not aware of the regulation requiring motorists to carry license and registration as he came here recently from the west where such regulations are not in vogue. He said his rear light was functioning which he left his garage and he did not know it had gone out of commission until so informed by the officer. This charge was placed on file, but fines of $10 on each of the other charges were imposed.

JOSEPH P. MONTMANY, President.

weeks ago the former pupils of St. Anne's school in Lawrence, which is also under the direction of the Marist Brothers, formed an association and the installation of the newly elected officers will take place in a couple of weeks.

Word has been received from Manchester to the effect that the former pupils of the Marist Brothers' school there are planning the formation of an alumni, and it is said that a similar movement is on foot at Northampton, N. Y., where the mother house of the order is located. As soon as the two latter places have organized a committee of young men from the Lowell alumni will be formed and negotiations will be started for the formation of a federation, the purpose of which will be to bring together the young men of New England, who received their early training from the Marist Brothers. It is felt that such an organization would prove of great benefit to its members and would also be of assistance to the boys, who are attending these various schools. The federation movement is being sponsored by Joseph P. Montmany and Arthur H. Giroux, president and financial secretary respectively of the St. Joseph's college alumni.
